

France Seeking To Halt Crisis

PARIS (AP) — Premier Georges Pompidou summoned labor and business leaders to meet with him Saturday to seek a solution to the crushing strike wave paralyzing most of France's economic life.

More and greater turmoil threatened, meanwhile, as workers, students and farmers called a new round of demonstrations today a few hours before President Charles de Gaulle's address to the nation.

DeGaulle was expected to give his analysis of the situation and propose broad outlines for a settlement. The government then would try to reach an agreement with business and labor within these boundaries.

The Communist-led General Confederation of Workers, France's biggest union, immediately accepted Pompidou's invitation to meet but expressed that "24 hours are being lost." The French Confederation of Democratic Workers also accepted, but warned that the strikes would not stop.

French farmers were out by the thousands in protest against a possibility the six-nation Common Market will order the limiting of government subsidies on dairy products at a meeting in Brussels next week. That would mean lower prices for such items as milk, butter and cheese. West Germany wants to curb such outlays.

Tractors and barricades were used to halt traffic on many roads in Brittany and south and central France. The farmers moved from car to car to explain their economic difficulties to motorists, then allowed them to proceed.

Premier Pompidou told newsmen Agriculture Minister Edgar Faure has been instructed to establish a French position of "extreme firmness on the organization of the agricultural markets" when he and his colleagues in the Common Market open the Brussels meeting Monday.

Takes a Hard Line On Vietnam Peace

SINGAPORE (AP) — Premier Pham Van Dong of North Vietnam declared tonight "the United States must stop all aggression and stop all bombings without conditions" in the North and withdraw from South Vietnam before peace can be restored.

Hanoi radio said Dong told a session of the National Assembly that Xuan Thuy, head of the North Vietnamese delegation to the talks with the United States in Paris, would "stand firm" on these conditions.

Thus his speech seemed to end, at least for now, any hope that North Vietnam would agree at Paris to any de-escalation in South Vietnam in return for an end of all U.S. acts of war against the North.

Dong accused the United States of "aggression with the view of transforming Vietnam into a U.S. colony."

To thunderous applause, he said: "The Vietnam people call on the United States to abide by the Geneva agreements and guarantee the independence and integrity of our country."

Dong referred to the Geneva convention of 1954 where France withdrew from Indochina and the two Vietnams were set up.

To Hold Graduation In S-C Gym

Smith-Cotton commencement exercises will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in the Smith-Cotton gymnasium, instead of Jennie Jaynes stadium, as originally scheduled.

Dr. T.J. Norris, superintendent of schools, said the soggy condition of the stadium grounds necessitated the change. He added that due to the more limited seating capacity of the gymnasium, chairs could not be assured to those beyond family members and close friends of the graduates.

Shanty Town Swamped in Mud

WASHINGTON (AP)—Heavy rains turned Resurrection City, U.S.A., into a sea of mud today and forced at least a temporary evacuation of most of the residents of the Poor People's Campaign shantytown.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson, Resurrection City manager, said plans are being made to shift about 2,000 of the 2,400 residents to churches in metropolitan Washington.

Meanwhile the campaign sustained Thursday its first group arrests after a Capitol Hill demonstration the movement's leader called unplanned and unfortunate.

But it also received its first federal response as Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman promised to expand federal food programs and 30 senators and representatives set up an informal unofficial liaison committee between Congress and the campaign.

Jackson said there also is danger of a flu epidemic sweeping the campsite at Lincoln Memorial.

Campaign leaders issued a call for thousands of boots and raincoats for the campaign demonstrators. It has rained heavily for 24 hours and more rain is predicted today and Saturday.

Jackson also said there is a need for more temporary accommodations outside the camp area to house inhabitants until conditions improve.

Jackson described the conditions as "rather deplorable." The mud is four to five inches thick, he said.

The planned evacuation will not interrupt the campaign's efforts to convince Congress and the federal government that more help is needed for the poor, Jackson said.

"We will evacuate as many as possible today, particularly

Political Limelight On Oregon

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sticking to his easy-does-it strategy, Richard M. Nixon moves into Oregon today to do some unhurried campaigning for next Tuesday's Republican presidential primary.

The state is already alive with candidates and their outriders, both Democratic and Republican.

Tuesday's Democratic primary will be the third test between Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy and Robert F. Kennedy, but as usual there will be quirks in the makeup of the ballot.

One of the candidates listed on the Democratic side, for instance, is President Johnson, an avowed noncandidate. Backers of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who became a contender for the nomination too late to file for the Oregon race, are spending heavily to spread the word that votes for Johnson will be interpreted by political observers as support for Humphrey.

established at Whiteman AFB, Missouri State Fairgrounds and with various Head Start programs.

Interested youths who qualify under the Office of Economic Opportunity guidelines should apply at the following locations:

Neighborhood Youth Corp Office, Sixth and Massachusetts, Room 18, Sedalia.

Johnson County Neighborhood Center, 143 East Pine, Warrensburg.

Benton County Neighborhood Center, Warsaw.

Morgan County Neighborhood Center, Versailles.

Jackson, "city manager" of the poor people's shantytown near the Lincoln Memorial, hustled to Capitol Hill after receiving word that arrests were being made.

Police had already sent two vans full of demonstrators off for booking—five more empties were waiting—before Jackson persuaded them to stop by promising all the remaining demonstrators would leave. The group had originally numbered about 200.

He said he also told the police, "If you arrest these, you'll have 3,000 more to deal with today and it would be a sound decision to call it off."

The incident pointed up the touchy leadership problems of the campaign. Though conceived by the SCLC, it embraces many groups which have brought to Washington leaders not in the SCLC hierarchy.

Rain Bombs on Reds Crossing From Laos

SAIGON (AP) — Waves of America's biggest bombers kept up one of the most concentrated saturation attacks of the war today against North Vietnamese troops reported crossing from Laos into the center of South Vietnam. The intensified air campaign was aimed at stopping any major enemy thrust across the country.

In 10 missions Thursday and today, at least 30 Air Force B52 bombers rained nearly 1,000 tons of explosives along enemy areas near the junction of the borders of South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

While the pressure mounted in the central highlands, U.S. Marines just below the demilitarized zone reported 203 North Vietnamese killed in a savage two-day battle. The Leathernecks said 23 of their men were killed and 86 wounded in the action Wednesday and Thursday two miles northeast of Con Thien.

Bombing of the central highlands was stepped up after North Vietnamese troops were reported crossing over the Laotian frontier in force. U.S. intelligence officers in the field said the Communist command might try to grab a large chunk of South Vietnam's central plateau to put more teeth into its demands at the Paris peace talks.

The first North Vietnamese divisions ever identified in South Vietnam tried to cut the country in half in 1965 but American troops drove them back during a fall of bloody fighting.

Flying at altitudes of more than 20,000 feet, the huge planes attacked staging areas, troop concentrations, bunkers, artillery positions and antiaircraft batteries between the Laotian border and Dak To.

U.S. outposts at the head of a valley that stretches from the Laotian border south to Dak To report heavy traffic nightly along the route which serves as the main north-south highway through the highlands.

Intelligence reports said two regiments from the North Vietnamese 325th Division have completed a 165-mile march south from near Khe Sanh to an area west of Kontum, possibly to reinforce another enemy division and four independent regiments along South Vietnam's western border.

In the DMZ action, the Marines took on two battalions—about 800 of the enemy—believed to be from the 320th North Vietnamese Division. Units from three regiments of the 3rd Marine Division got into the fray before the enemy withdrew Thursday night.

The Americans threw tanks, artillery and fighter-bombers into the battle, as well as helicopter gunships which were credited with a large percentage of the enemy killed.

Another Marine force launched a new operation, Mameluke Thrust, 24 miles southwest of Da Nang to seek out enemy forces in the rolling hills between the highlands and the rice-producing coastal lowlands.

U.S. headquarters said several battalions from the 1st Marine Division began the operation five days ago, but the announcement was withheld for security reasons.

Sharp ground fighting was also reported near Saigon.

Draft Case Evidence Presented

BOSTON (AP) — Television films of Dr. Benjamin Spock standing on the steps of the Justice Department building in Washington, exhorting young men to continue resisting the draft, have been shown to a federal jury trying the pediatrician and four others on antidraft charges.

"Remember, the greatest weapon the government has is division and we must not attack each other, we must stick together," Spock was heard to say in the film of an antidraft rally last Oct. 20.

Also seen and heard in the films projected Thursday was another defendant, Yale Chaplain William Sloane Coffin Jr., 43.

On trial with the 65-year-old baby doctor and Coffin are Mitchell Goodman, 44, a New York writer and teacher; Marcus Raskin, 33, a Washington research director; and Michael Ferber, 23, a graduate student at Harvard. All are charged with conspiring to counsel, aid and abet young Americans to evade and avoid the draft.

The government contends that during the rally, Coffin, Spock, Goodman, Raskin and others attempted to hand over a briefcase containing 185 draft cards and 172 classification cards to John McDonough, an assistant deputy U.S. attorney general, at a meeting inside the building in a deliberate violation of Selective Service laws.

The incident is one of several upon which the government based its indictments against the defendants, who face five-year prison terms and $10,000 fines if convicted.

McDonough did not accept the cards, but the government says the visitors left the briefcase on a table as they walked out.

Red Envoy Accuses U.S. Of Stepping Up the War

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam accused the United States today of intensifying the war in both North and South Vietnam despite the fact that "it speaks a great deal about peace and negotiations for peace."

The verbal attack on the United States came from a spokesman for Ambassador Xuan Thuy in Paris shortly after Premier Pham Van Dong in Hanoi claimed the Viet Cong forces in South Vietnam had scored great victories over allied troops.

Dong said Thuy would stand firm at Paris on his government's terms for peace. This could apply both to long-range settlement issues and to the immediate deadlock in the Paris talks over ending the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

It could exclude decisively any de-escalation by North Vietnam in order to get an end of bombing, but it could also be tough talk in general to cover an eventual compromise.

So far as the United States was the target, the attacks from Hanoi and Paris presumably are designed to increase world public opinion pressure on Washington to end the rest of the bombing and other attacks on North Vietnam without exacting any military scale-down from North Vietnam.

"The U.S. begins to use weapons which are condemned by the whole world, including chemical poisons," said Nguyen Thanh Le, North Vietnamese spokesman in Paris. "You know that beginning July 1 the United States is planning to use 10 million gallons of toxic products in Vietnam."

The United States and North Vietnam are moving toward a showdown on the issue of bombing the North, and there is no compromise in sight.

Each government is expected to increase its pressure on the other in the meetings ahead, with the threat of a breakdown in the talks, a weapon both are already using.

U.S. officials say they believe that North Vietnam's main aim (See Envoy, Page 4)

'Death of God' Doctrine Passing From the Scene

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Like a passing storm, the "death of God" furore seems to be dying out today in theological circles. It's a "bursting bubble," says Anglican Bishop John A. T. Robinson.

However, many church scholars say the temporary shock value of the approach may have served a useful purpose in religious thought.

They say it's spurring renewed efforts at understanding the divine in life, and purging easygoing, old assumptions.

A "special opportunity" is being offered current theology "in the aftermath of the 'death of God' episode," writes the Rev. Dr. Thomas C. Oden, of the graduate theological school of Philip's University, Enid, Okla.

"We are now being forced into much more primal theological territory. We are being confronted with the much more profound question of the reality of God."

Actually, the "death of God" speculations generally did not mean that divinity itself had ceased to exist, but rather that the modern scientific culture obscured it, and humanity seemed largely unaware and independent of it.

Christians must learn to live in a world "without God," the late German theologian Dietrich Bonhoeffer put it before he died, a firm believer, at Nazi hands. But his writings set the stage for the ensuing "death of God" ferment.

The catchphrase, actually a 1965 revival of a 19th century shibboleth by German philosopher Nietzsche, also was used to point to the demise of tradition-bound, manipulative, self-serving images of God current in Western society.

They were dead, the funeral announcers said. But if the old, utilitarian definitions don't specify God, or have become meaningless idols in an age when He seems to be absent from the technological scene, then theologians must grapple anew with "basic issues" of reality, Dr. Oden says.

"We can rejoice that we have been stung and shocked out of our drowsiness and complacency by the God of history," he

Pastor's Comment

By the Rev. Medford Speaker
East Sedalia Baptist Church

Do you believe ministers should involve themselves in social and political issues?

Yes, I will continue to speak to the social and political questions as they present themselves. I feel compelled to do so for the following reasons. I believe everyone citizen should involve themselves in the problems of their communities.

The fact that I am a minister of the Gospel does not free me from that responsibility. Neither does that fact take away my privilege of speaking out.

Throughout Biblical History Prophets, Priests, Rabbi's and Ministers have been instrumental in interpreting God's will and purpose for cities, states and nations.

I am not of the opinion that I can speak for my denomination or the religious community. I am not of the opinion that as a minister I can force, by pressure tactics, convictions upon others.

I will speak out to interpret what I feel to be Biblical teachings regarding the issues of the day. Having spoken I leave it to those who hear me to accept or reject what I propose.

To sit by and say nothing about the social and political issues of the day is a greater sin than saying and doing too much.

Marriage Of Bishops As 'Need'

NEW YORK (AP) — If Roman Catholic priests eventually are allowed to marry, then there should be "mandatory marriage for the bishops," the Rev. Joseph H. Fichter, Harvard University sociologist said today.

Father Fichter, director of a recent survey showing 70 per cent of priests under 35 favor ending the church's requirement of celibacy for the clergy, said the change may come sooner than might ordinarily be expected.

"The traditional reluctance to change seems to be giving way to an open minded willingness to examine new patterns in the life of the Church," he writes in the current issue of the lay-edited Catholic magazine, Commonweal.

"I propose that when the reform comes in the church legislation on clerical celibacy there should be optional marriage for the priests but mandatory marriage for the bishops."

Saying that most early popes, bishops and priests were married, he added: "If the priests marry and the bishops stay single, a new wedge of separation will be introduced into the Christian community."

He said this was the experience of the Church's eastern rite, in which married men were allowed to become priests, but were barred from advancement to the episcopacy, and were treated like "second-class" citizens.

Quick Rescue By Air Lasts an 'Eternity'

By GEORGE McARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — Fire and smoke wreathed the Special Forces camp and the Viet Cong flag whipped from the old command bunker when the radio crackled that three Americans were still down there.

An old C123 twin-engine Provider lowered through the battle haze and gingerly touched down on the debris-strewn airstrip.

The crew found no one but on the take off run spotted three men waving desperately. The plane was going too fast, however, and was too low on fuel for another run.

Circling at 8,000 feet, a ruddy-faced, 45-year-old pilot listened to the radio. He snapped on his intercom and told his crew: "We're going in."

So began the last hazardous flight into Kham Duc, a mountain-ringed Green Berets' outpost some 45 miles southwest of Da Nang. Helicopters, four-engine Hercules turboprops and the smaller twin-engine Providers had already lifted out about 800 Americans, villagers and tribal irregulars. No one was supposed to be left.

The airstrip was littered with craters and the debris of destroyed helicopters. All day the evacuation transports had been taking hits. Enemy gunners shot down one Hercules. Now, in the

Transfusion 'Not Role' Of Court

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Juvenile Court judge says he has no power to force a dying woman to receive blood transfusions that could save the life of her unborn child.

"Courts don't make decisions in such cases," Judge Leopoldo G. Sanchez said Wednesday. "It's out of their hands."

The woman is Frances Brown, a 36-year-old member of Jehovah's Witnesses, a religious sect which opposes transfusions on what it says is Scriptural authority.

Her physician, Dr. Alvin M. Gottlieb, filed the suit on behalf of the child which he said she has been carrying for about 6½ months.

But David Jacobsohn, Mrs. Brown's attorney, said Juvenile Court's jurisdiction over a child does not begin until the child is born.

Gottlieb said the woman will die within a month if the transfusion is not performed and that if it is not done within a week, the anemic condition accompanying Mrs. Brown's fatal illness will cause miscarriage.

Gottlieb's attorney, Jay C. Foonberg, said Judge Sanchez' decision "amounts to a sentence of death for the child."

But Judge Sanchez said his decision was based on the fact that a child injured before birth can exercise its right to legal redress only after it is born alive, not before.

afternoon, the fire grew heavier as two North Vietnamese regiments closed in on the jungle encampment.

Lt. Col. Joe Jackson, a one-time newspaper boy from Newnan, Ga., who recalls former Gov. Ellis Arnall as a customer, put the old transport plane in a near dive.

It should have been a routine check flight. As commander of the 113th Air Commando Squadron, Jackson normally doesn't fly much. This day he had arranged a flight with a check pilot, Maj. William Campbell, 37, Atascadero, Calif., as his copilot.

Jackson was taking a periodic flight check when his C123 was ordered over embattled Kham Duc.

The idea was to get down quickly to avoid antiaircraft fire and at the same time to pull up and land slowly. He had to stop on the runway without having to reverse his engines. "It's a hell of a technical point, but reversing the engines cuts off the auxiliary jet pods beneath the Provider's wings. Starting those pod engines would take 40 long seconds. Jackson knew they might not have 40 seconds and he wanted that extra power for the take off under fire."

"I knew things were bad on the ground. You could see it," Jackson says. "We didn't have any trouble finding the base. It was all on fire. From the time we came in range, they opened up, firing from the bunkers and from below us as we approached."

"God, look at all those machine guns," yelled a pilot Campbell.

Jackson threaded the plane down the runway while Campbell and two crew members scanned the smoldering fortifications for the three Americans. Near the end of the airstrip, the three ran out — an Air Force officer in a blue flight suit and two enlisted men in camouflage fatigues. They were members of the Air Force combat control team that normally ran the control tower at the small post. How they got left behind, no one knew.

"As soon as they jumped on board, the loadmaster yelled 'on board, clear to go' and we sure went," Jackson recalls. "We got out of there without a hole in the plane. I'll never understand it."

The official record shows that Jackson's plane was on the ground no more than 120 seconds.

"That was eternity," Jackson says.

Go Easy on the Garlick, Is Advice to Male Chefs

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

More men than women today seem to want to learn how to cook well. The trouble with these kitchen cutups is that they think any dish can be made better by tossing in another spice, throwing in another herb. For the enduring welfare of one of our great natural resources, the American stomach, all male amateur chefs should be forbidden by law to use garlic in the preparation of any meal until they have been cooking for at least three years.

Show me a human being who plants roses but tears up dandelions and I'll show you a person with a mixed-up sense of values. He is one who prefers gilt to gold, romance to honest realism. A rose offers scent and beauty but threatens you with thorns. A dandelion, however, is an example of beauty in serviceable harness. Every part of this lovely and democratic plant — root, leaf and flower — has a useful purpose. From it man can make food, medicines and wine.

A wife can always tell how many cocktail parties her husband has been to by the number of toothpicks she finds in the right-hand pocket of his coat when she sends it to the cleaner. The ordinary man can't think of any other place to dispose of them except his pocket. The usual ratio: five toothpicks for every party.

Greater love hath no woman than the woman who puts up with a husband who buys her a second-hand fur jacket from a thrift shop on her 25th wedding anniversary.

The fellow we feel sorriest for this time of year is the suburbanite who has to fight both dandruff and crabgrass.

We don't need economists to inform us that we are living in a period of inflation. Just check how many guys in your office are now carrying sandwiches to work in their briefcases — guys who bought their lunch only a year ago.

The odds are 3 to 2 that the next girl who asks you to help get a clinker out of her eye will have light rather than dark eyes. Girls with dark eyes get fewer foreign objects in their glimmers because they usually have longer, more protective lashes.

Something has died out of a marriage when — imitating their children — the wife starts calling her husband "father," and he begins addressing her as "mother." Both have unconsciously let go of their youth.

One of the differences between men and women is the reason why they put their hands on their hips. A man does this when he is overlooking a piece

Humphrey Wins Poll In State

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Vice President Hubert Humphrey won 72 per cent of the support from Missouri's Democratic committeemen and women in a poll conducted by State Democratic Chairman Delton L. Houthens.

Houthens said Thursday the poll gave Sen. Robert F. Kennedy 23 per cent and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy 5 per cent. He reported on the results from 1,163 questionnaires returned out of 3,450 sent to local Democratic committee members since May 15.

He said he thought the local committee members reflected the thinking of all Democrats in Missouri. Houthens himself is a supporter of the vice president for the presidential nomination.

"It would be of great advantage to both state and county tickets this fall," the state chairman said, "if the Democratic party nominates the strongest available candidate for the presidency."

In recent days there has been an indication that Gov. Warren E. Hearnes may not be Missouri's favorite son candidate for the nomination when the national convention opens in Chicago next August.

Hearnes has said he will abide by the wishes of the Missouri delegation. Choice of the 78 delegates will be completed at the party's state convention in Jefferson City June 1.

Circuit Court

An item in Circuit Court news in the Sedalia Democrat and Capital earlier this week reported that the State of Missouri dismissed charges of second degree burglary and stealing against George T. Murphy in connection with an incident at the Green Ridge American Legion building around March 1.

This was an incorrect version of the information which should have read that the State dismissed charges of second degree burglary and stealing against Marvin A. Fox and David Butterbaugh in connection with an incident at the American Legion building, in Green Ridge, Post No. 491 of which is named for George T. Murphy, war veteran.

Fox and Butterbaugh were charged in the original complaint with burglary in the second degree and stealing in connection with the Hickory Point Baptist church and the George T. Murphy American Legion building. Fox and Butterbaugh pleaded guilty to the charges related to the Hickory Point church incident and were sentenced on that charge by the court to two 2-year terms to run concurrently, under custody of the State Department of Corrections.

Probe Of 'Copter Disaster

PARAMOUNT, Calif. (AP) — Federal officials pressed a search today in a pasture, in the Los Angeles County morgue and elsewhere for the cause of the worst helicopter crash in U.S. history.

All 23 persons aboard the single-rotor commuter Sikorsky S61 helicopter returning to Los Angeles International Airport from Disneyland were killed in the crash Wednesday evening. They included nine Ohioans on vacation and two prominent Californians.

Los Angeles Airways resumed its charter operations in the metropolitan area after a post crash suspension of flights.

The bodies of the 20 passengers and three crewmen were found in or near the charred wreckage in a pasture near a busy intersection of Paramount, halfway on the 32-mile hop from Disneyland to the airport.

The dead included Mayor John R. Trainor, 46, of Red Bluff, Calif.; Dr. Arden K. Ruddell, 43, professor of education at the University of California at Berkeley, and Morris Kromfeld, a New York investment banker from West Englewood, N.J. is still to win the war by coordinated action on three fronts — trying to undermine the U.S.-supported government in Saigon, pressing the United States for concessions in the Paris talks, and striving for new military victories in South Vietnam.

A long-range secondary aim, they say, may be to negotiate a compromise settlement, for which their bargaining position would be strengthened by whatever gains they can make in South Vietnam.

President Johnson declared in Washington Thursday that "Hanoi is telling its forces in the South that they must continue their aggressive effort to support their negotiators."

At the same time Johnson said that the United States "will not be defeated on the battlefield while the talks go on" permitting the enemy "to achieve a victory that would make a mockery of the negotiations."

Johnson said, "It still is not clear that Hanoi is ready for an early and honorable peace."

Negro Soldiers in Vietnam Have Mixed Feelings

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Negro soldier in Vietnam speaks: "This is no man's war and certainly not a colored man's. When people can't live together back home, I can't see coming over here fighting."

Another Negro soldier speaks: "I'm sick of it. They say we're fighting to free the people of South Vietnam. But Newark wasn't free. Was Watts? Was Detroit? I mean, which is more important, home or here?"

And another:

"I'm an American citizen first. It's the only country, the only life I know. I can't turn my back on it, even though I know it's been wrong many times, particularly about colored people. I feel I have a sense of responsibility and I'll stick with my country."

For two months, Paul Hathaway, a staff writer for the Washington Evening Star, talked to Negro soldiers in Vietnam and to Negro veterans who had returned home. The quotations above and the observations that follow came from the five articles published by the Star.

"For most Negro soldiers in Vietnam it is not a case of 'My Country, Right or Wrong,' but 'My Country, Right and Wrong.'" Hathaway, a Negro, wrote in the last of the articles, copyrighted by the Star.

"They see America as a land of cruel paradoxes, conflicting commitments and shifting priorities. They see the war as theirs and not yet quite theirs, and democracy as something that is in their presence, yet not within their grasp."

To many Negro soldiers who see their lives threatened by war the Vietnamese are not so much people as obstructions that must be overcome. Hathaway reported. They consider them people who refuse to help themselves, who should be able to lift themselves by their own bootstraps without American help.

Unconfirmed stories circulate among Negro soldiers in which the enemy treats the Negro either as a friend or as a neutral party.

"Man, I hear the gooks got these seven soldiers and they killed all six whites and they let this one blood (Negro) go," Hathaway quoted one Negro as saying.

These stories, Hathaway added, are made more believable by Viet Cong and North Vietnamese leaflets aimed at American troops which address the Negro soldier:

"Black man, why are you fighting here? We don't want to fight you. Your war is against the white man back home."

A Marine private in Dong Ha said he thought the Negro death rate in Vietnam was as high as 60 per cent.

"I think we're being killed off," he said. "I think we're being used. That's what."

Defense Department figures show the percentage of Negroes killed in Vietnam is slightly higher than for whites, a statistic the Pentagon attributes to the higher percentage of Negroes in elite volunteer combat units and the high percentage of noncommissioned officers among Negro soldiers.

There were 56,000 Negroes in the armed forces in Vietnam on Jan. 1, 1968, 9.8 per cent of the total fighting force. Negro deaths in combat during the six years prior to Jan. 1 were 14.1 per cent of total U.S. deaths.

Many Negro soldiers attribute their negative attitude toward the war to the situation at home, not on the war itself.

"It seemed like when the rioting broke out back home, they felt that they had something more important to do in The World (the United States)," said Marine Pfc. Richard L. Gray Jr., Fairmont, W.Va., in Phu Bai. "It seemed like they wanted to be back there kicking somebody too."

As a group of five Negro soldiers sat around a mess table nodding agreement, Army Spec. 4 William F. Washington, Los Angeles criticized stories he had read about harmony between Negro and white on the battlefield.

"All this talk about integration in the foxhole," Washington said. "Well, why not? Why not? You cover his hide and he covers yours. That's how you survive."

"But you see, that doesn't mean that he's going to treat you any different when he gets back in The World. It's just that you need each other more now."

It was that way in Nha Trang, he said. The whites talked with them, worked with them. But when it came downtown to the bars and to the women, they went separate ways.

To Marine Cpl. Hosea Dyson, Chicago, being black is irrelevant in a war, there are only those who gain glory in fighting for a cause they believe in.

"I'm an American citizen first. It's the only country, the only life I know. I can't turn my back on it..."

"Once when a white soldier left my squad," said Dyson, "he shook my hand and told me he'd been proud to be in the same foxhole with me. It made me feel good, so good. I would have felt good if a Negro had said it, but it struck me that someone white should do it."

And after the war? "I think war changes men," Dyson said. "It will make a difference when we get back. Out here, they see us as people. Before, you were just a shadow or something. Now they know you."

In Pleiku, Airborne Spec. 4 Lawrence Harkless, a former policeman in Watts, spoke of the large number of Negroes who join elite groups such as the airborne.

"We join because of pride and the $55 extra a month," he said. "It's a challenge. The brother likes the challenge. We're tough and we want everybody to know it. When I get home, I don't want anyone to mess with me in the block. Because I'm a man. If they never noticed before, they better notice now."

And once the Negro gets out of the service. Then what?

"If he does not have an education, a high school diploma or something, then he is damn near unemployable," said Costel N. Akrie, San Francisco, one of nine veterans' affairs coordinators working for the Urban League. "Despite his youth, he is the same as the uneducated guy in World War II or the Korean War. He's at a dead end. The kid comes back from Vietnam. He sees black veterans from other wars fighting the same problems and he asks himself, 'Is this going to happen to me?'"

Many Negroes had service responsibilities — antiaircraft technician, demolition expert or rifleman—that do not lend themselves to civilian life.

"They tell us we need college degrees," Akrie said, "but there are few Negroes that have them. They will require a bachelor's degree from a Negro for a particular kind of job, but a high school diploma from a white veteran."

More Negroes than whites take advantage of various GI education and vocational training programs—53 per cent compared to 45 per cent. Government figures also show that for the Negro ex-serviceman the median family income is $4,557. For families headed by a Negro who is not a veteran, the median income is $3,610.

Charles Walker, 24, who holds a certificate for meritorious service for spearheading a counterattack in Phu Lai found it different. He is earning $450 a month while in training as a customer engineer for International Business Machines.

"Some guys feel that just because they have been to Vietnam that something should be handed to them," he says. "But I don't feel that way. It's like starting a new life when you get out. You have to prove yourself all over again."

New Air Chief For Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. George S. Brown is being plucked from the cloistered offices of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to run the U.S. air war in Vietnam.

Brown, 49, will bring to his new command in Saigon a clear knowledge of the innermost discussions and thinking of the nation's top military leaders and of the civilians who make the final policies.

Brown is equipped as are few other senior officers to understand the way power operates at the highest levels of government.

The handsome, heavily decorated World War II combat veteran has served as military assistant to two secretaries of defense and currently is the principal assistant and adviser to Chairman Earle G. Wheeler of the Joints Chiefs of Staff.

Brown, a native of Montclair, N.J., will take over as commander of the 7th Air Force on Aug. 1.

That's the 25th anniversary of the day when his bomber group, flying B24 Liberators, struck Ploesti, Romania, at low level in one of the most famous and costly U.S. raids of World War II.

Rising to the rank of full general, Brown will succeed Gen. William W. Momyer, who is returning after two years in command of the 7th Air Force to take over as chief of the Tactical Air Command, Langley Air Force Base, Va.

The command changes were included among a long list of shifts and retirements announced by the White House late Tuesday. They affected 36 generals and admirals, mostly Air Force generals.

Sources said the changes did not involve any war policy developments, but rather represented a periodic shuffling of billets.

The White House announcement also disclosed that Lt. Gen. Benjamin O. Davis Jr., highest-ranking Negro in the armed forces, will become deputy commander in chief of the U.S. Strike Command, which has responsibility for dealing with crises in Africa, the Middle East and Southeast Asia. Davis has been commander of the 13th Air Force headquartered in the Philippines.

President Johnson nominated

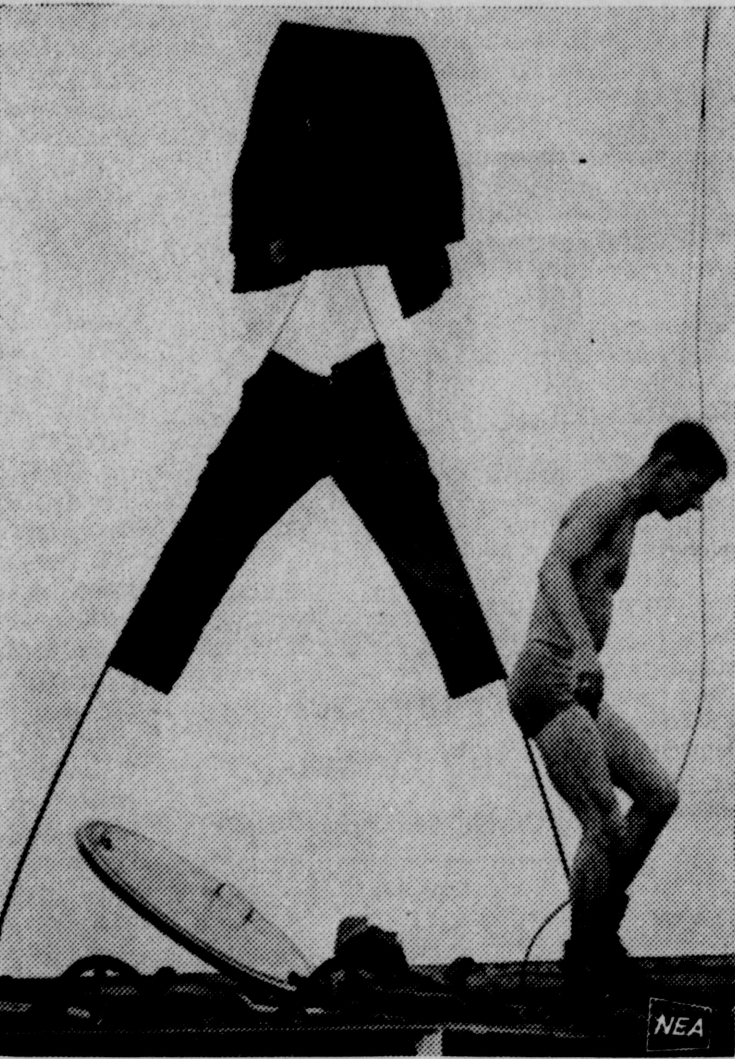

his pilot, Col. James U. Cross, 43, for promotion to Brigadier general. Cross, who will leave the White House in June for another assignment, has been a colonel only since last May.

Crime Control Measure Passed By the Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a crime-control bill that would undo controversial Supreme Court rulings that guarantee criminal suspects greater rights. The measure also would grant police new wiretapping and electronic "bugging" authority.

But while the Senate passed the bill Thursday night by a 72-4 vote, it was uncertain how much of it will become law.

It still faces House consideration, and contains provisions strongly opposed by President Johnson and Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the influential House Judiciary Committee. Already, there is speculation Johnson would veto such a measure.

The prime concern of Johnson, Celler and other opponents involves the proposed controls on the Supreme Court. And some opponents say constitutional questions are raised by sections authorizing police wiretapping and electronic surveillance or "bugging" of suspects.

As passed by the Senate, the bill's chief provisions would:

—Establish a two-year program of $400 million in federal grants to improve the training and equipment of state and local police and for research to develop new crime fighting techniques.

The grants could help finance the war on organized crime and control the prevention of riots.

—Undo Supreme Court decisions restricting the use of confessions and police lineup identification in federal crime trials. The sole test of the admissibility of a confession would be whether it was given voluntarily.

—Authorize wiretapping and electronic eavesdropping by law enforcement officers, acting under court orders, in the investigation of specified crimes. This would be permitted by state and local police, as well as federal officers, in states that pass implementing legislation.

—Prohibit interstate mail-order sales of handguns and their over-the-counter sale to nonresidents of a state and otherwise tighten federal firearms controls.

The House last year passed the "Safe Streets" part of the bill providing for federal grants to strengthen local law enforcement. The Senate grafted on all the other provisions.

Celler, in line to head the conference committee that will attempt to resolve differences in the Senate and House versions, already has said he would rather see the bill ditched than accept the section to undo Supreme Court decisions on the admissibility of confessions and lineup identifications.

Some senators reported they expect President Johnson to veto the bill unless these provisions are stricken.

But Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., who steered the bill through the senate, said he was determined to keep them.

Passage of the bill followed more than three weeks of debate.

'Consumerism' is Now Concern of Management

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Now that the truth in lending bill has been passed by Congress, meaning that interest charges must be stated clearly, business will in all probability adjust readily to the new law and continue to thrive.

One never would have thought so a couple of years ago. The incentive was torrid, the denunciations were loudly and angrily shouted, the forecasts were ominous.

Business just couldn't live with the bill, Congress was told. But business will live with it, just as it has lived with other "consumerism" measures for 60 years, beginning with the Pure Food and Drug Act.

Major changes in American business are resulting from recent consumer legislation. But the laws are having much broader effects also, as noted in the markedly changed attitude of some businesses.

The theme of self-regulation as the way to avoid government regulation is now well known to every industry. The Outdoor Power Equipment Institute, for example, publicizes the hazards of power mowers, although the mention of hazards by an industry once was considered taboo.

Various institutes and industrial associations now have special departments to serve the needs of consumers, among them the National Association of Manufacturers and the Association of Better Business Bureaus.

NAM has set up a consumer information service to help educate the public in the proper selection of purchases. The BBB association has worked up a program on better shopping procedures.

The nation's credit bureaus, whose credit investigations often determine whether you can buy on time, are now setting up guidelines for the protection of consumer privacy in reporting records. The threat of legislation is goading them.

Research in colleges and in some government agencies now has become oriented toward educating and protecting consumers, sometimes with the assistance of the industries involved. Codes of ethics, standards and performance criteria are being studied by several industries. And in almost all instances, the motivation is the realization that a failure of self-regulation might lead to rigid federal codes.

So important does the American Advertising Federation consider the consumerism movement that its president, Howard H. Bell, recently moved his office from Madison Avenue to Washington, where he can listen to congressional thinking.

Largely unnoticed at the moment, a rich reward comes to business because of this forced intensification of consumer concern.

Forced to examine the reasons for the spread of customer complaints, which increasingly were directed to Washington rather than to corporate offices, some companies found their business methods had become sloppy.

Forced change is often difficult for free enterprises to accept, but once accepted, it seems, legitimate businesses have been strengthened by measures undertaken for society as a whole.

In fact, most retailers now see little danger in buyers being better informed on interest rates.

Instead, many feel that with the rules of the game declared, unfair competition will be less a threat to them, just as unfair selling methods will be less a danger to the consumer.

Disgusted Cop Quits

Lt. Raymond Schreiner was so unhappy with his lot that he resigned after 16 years on the Bayonne, N. J., police force. His reason for quitting? "Lack of respect for policemen," he said.

Trying to enforce the law within a growing number of often unrealistic ground rules also played a part in Schreiner's decision. "Who ever heard of an army having to bow to the very people they are being paid to control?" he wanted to know.

Police work is about the only occupation, aside from the military, that offers little prestige, lousy hours, low pay and an occasional chance to get one's head blown off.

Schreiner performed his job for 16 years under these conditions. To him, it was all part of being a cop. But 16 years of being considered by some a freeloader at the public trough, of being called "flatfoot" and "fuzz" by jeering young punks and of having his intelligence and legitimacy questioned by drunken drivers and wife beaters finally became too much.

Schreiner's resignation points up on often overlooked fact—cops are human, even as you and I. Most are good, some are bad. Most are honest, some are crooked. Some are brave, most overcome their fears in moments of peril and some are cowards.

A policeman sees a side of life that the public seldom, if ever, sees. He works in a world of child beaters, drunks, prostitutes, dope pushers and murderers. On any given day he may be called upon to take a report from a sobbing young rape victim, tell a recent bride that her young husband has been killed in an auto accident, drive the charred body of an infant taken from a burned-out home to the morgue or walk into a dark alley after an armed man who has just robbed the corner grocer of $3.

Occasionally someone—the pregnant woman he rushes to the hospital, the little old lady he helps across the street or the motorist whose disabled car he helps to start—says thanks. Most, however, take his services for granted.

No one can blame Schreiner for hanging up his badge. The job is demanding and sometimes risky, and the rewards are few. It is to be hoped, however, that his action will not trigger a trend. Cops, besides being human, are necessary—especially good ones.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Eavesdropping on Dr. Martin King

—Another Korean War—

On Feb. 18, 1968, Jack Anderson, writing from Seoul, Korea, reported that North Korea might launch an attack against the South. Since then several other journalists have reported the same thing. On May 19 the Washington Post front-paged a dispatch from its correspondent in Seoul, Richard Halloran, predicting the probability "that North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung will strike South Korea with a large-scale assault this year."

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON
WASHINGTON — The question of whether Bobby Kennedy, when Attorney General, ordered wide-scale wiretapping and eavesdropping by the FBI has become the subject of some controversy. It is also very important in gauging Kennedy's qualifications to be president, and whether he is telling the truth. After all, the matter of the credibility gap has become something of an issue these days.

In this connection, this column has learned that, when he was Attorney General, Mr. Kennedy ordered a wiretap put on the phone of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Kennedy denies this and other statements that he ordered or condoned the wide-scale wiretapping or eavesdropping undertaken by the FBI while he commanded the Justice Department. He states that nowhere in the Justice Department is there to be found a single eavesdrop order signed by him.

However, the facts in the eavesdropping on Dr. King are irrefutable and we can report them in detail.

Attorney General Kennedy first ordered Dr. King bugged on July 16, 1963. His reason was that King was in touch with various Communists and was being influenced by them.

The order caused surprise in the FBI. During the 1960 election campaign both Bobby and his brother, the late president, had offered to help Dr. King when he was arrested in Atlanta Oct. 19 and he refused to post bond in connection with a civil-rights sit-in.

John F. Kennedy even issued a press release offering to help King, a gesture which had important effect on the Negro vote three weeks later. In Cook County it was the Negro vote which gave Kennedy his slender 8,000 vote margin in Illinois and won him the presidency.

—FBI Objects—

When, therefore, the brother of the president ordered a wiretap on Dr. King's phone, the FBI was amazed and opposed it. Courtney Evans, who served as liaison officer between J. Edgar Hoover and Bobby Kennedy, told the Attorney General that King traveled a lot, so a wiretap might not be too effective. Also he said that the wiretap would have a bad reaction among Negroes if discovered. The Attorney General remarked that he was not in the least interested in repercussions.

He did not press the matter, and so the FBI did not place any taps on King's wire in July, 1963.

However, in October of that year Bobby Kennedy signed an order for a tap on King's wires, and thereafter King's phone conversations were monitored.

This may have been why the highly publicized confrontation between King and J. Edgar Hoover turned out the way it did.

On Nov. 18, 1964, Hoover called Dr. King "the most notorious liar in the country" after King had urged civil-rights workers not to report violence to the FBI on the ground that FBI agents were southerners who would take no action.

King hurried to Washington for a showdown with Hoover. Emerging from the FBI director's office after their conference, King made a statement surprisingly favorable to the FBI. He had no criticism for Hoover. Intimates have told us that King suspected Hoover was tapping his wires. However, King never realized that the person who originally ordered the monitoring was Robert F. Kennedy, the man who had offered to help get King out of jail. Later Kennedy was one of the most headlined mourners at King's funeral.

However, we can report that the FBI faithfully carried on Kennedy's original instructions and submitted regular reports on King's activities — right up until the time of his death.

—King's Private Life—

These dealt in part with a Communist who was helping to write King's speeches; in part with other phases of his life. They are considered of some importance in trying to track down King's assassin.

The wiretaps on King's phone led to the reporting of King's movements around the country and various persons to whom he talked.

These have been checked out for enemies and those who might be interested in assassinating King.

The King wiretap was probably the most sensational of the taps inspired or ordered by Bobby Kennedy when he was Attorney General, but it was by no means the only one. This phase of his government career has been scrutinized only casually in the past. However, the public has a right to know all of his record before voting on his qualifications to be president.

Time for Initiative

Across the nation, in villages and towns as well as in cities and suburbs, a deep-rooted change is taking place. Natural resources once taken for granted are being regarded with increasing importance. Clean water and air, along with trees and the soil, are taking on a new meaning. People are discovering these resources are not only limited and vital, but vulnerable to fouling, waste, and ruin. They are awakening to the needs for better stewardship. On all sides there is a new climate for conservation.

It is time for initiative — for ten million actions great and small to set in motion a tide of resource care, converting desires into deeds and opportunities into accomplishments.

It is a time for courage — to examine conscience and measure how well individuals are meeting responsibilities to God for the care of His resources. It is a time to speak up for resources — because participation is the essence of democracy and the surest safeguard against dictation.

It is a time for initiative — because great values are in the balance. Changes are being made in the use of resources and more are coming.

It is a time to join in planning — to bring personal experience and views to bear, along with those of neighbors, on the inventory of resources, the identification of development possibilities, and the establishment of resource goals in community and watershed.

It is a time to become involved — because inaction is usually an evidence of fear or apathy and neither is creditable to a man of honor or a servant of God.

It is a time of leadership — because the job to be done is as large as the nation and the years for doing it are short.

The name of "Old Glory" for the U.S. flag is attributed to William Driver, master of the brig Charles Daggett, who raised the flag on his ship Aug. 10, 1831, saying: "I name thee Old Glory!"

BALBOA in the U.S. MINT?

Investors and collectors please note. The United States mint will soon begin production of the 90 per cent silver Panamanian Balboa in proof condition. It is identical in size and content to our silver dollar and part of a six-coin, 1968 proof set to be issued by the Republic of Panama.

With the exception of the design, all of the coins in this set are essentially the same as those of the United States. This is in keeping with a 1904 treaty which provides that coinage of both countries be similar in composition, value, denomination and size.

The Balboa is the same as our silver dollar. The 40 per cent silver-clad Half-Balboa is equivalent to our half-dollar and the cupro-nickel-clad Quarter Balboa and Tenth Balboa are equal to our quarter and dime. The five centesimo and one centesimo are identical in all respects to our nickel and one-cent piece.

This similarity with our coinage facilitates production and helps the mint to maintain the fine finish and quality identified with U.S. proof coins. Distribution is restricted to the Panamanian government or its authorized agent in the United States.

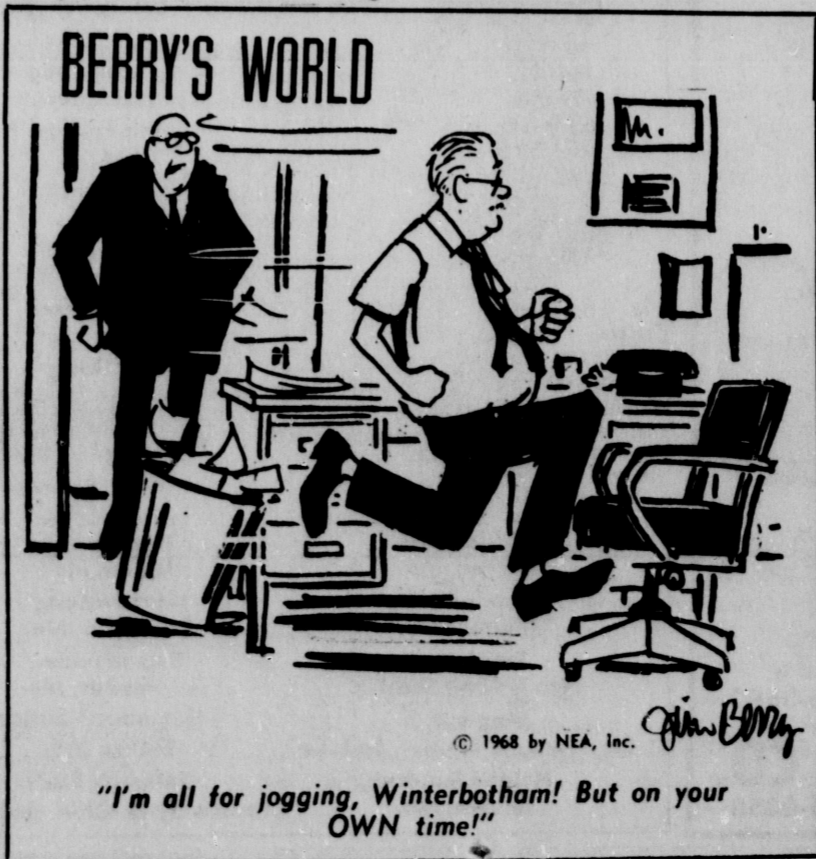

A Panama spokesman announced the 1968 proof sets will be sold for $15 and orders will be accepted until July 31 or until mint capacity is reached, whichever comes first. Orders received by the Panamanian Treasury will be filled by its North American agent. Time will be saved if buyers direct their orders to Paramount International Coin Corp., Paramount Bldg.,

Englewood, Ohio 45322. Orders are subject to a 25-cent handling charge and Ohio residents must pay a 4 per cent sales tax.

An interesting sidelight is connected with Panama proof sets. This tiny republic issued her first proofs in 1966 when she joined the United States and Canada as the third nation in the western hemisphere to issue proof sets on an annual basis.

Because of the low mintage, both previous sets have proved to be extremely wise investments. The total mintage of 12,701 in 1966 was sold to the public at $15 per set, and today that set retails for $42.50 with dealers and investors offering to buy at $32. The 1967 Panama proofs with a total mintage of 19,983 are already selling for $25 per set and there is every indication that the demand will increase its value as rapidly as the 1966 issue. For more detailed information on this program, write Department R at Paramount. Max Humbert assured me all requests would receive prompt attention by return mail.

TODAY'S SILVER certificate market. Top prices this week reached 72 per cent of the day's opening silver price. This is roughly $1.6344 for each one dollar certificate. A stamped, self-addressed envelope will bring you information on how to sell your certificates at a premium.

Progress of R.E.A.

By CYRENE DEAR

WASHINGTON — D.C. — Turn on the light! Pull the switch! Dial the telephone! These miracles did not become part of everyday living in rural America until the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt established the Rural Electrification Act by executive order which became a law on May 30, 1936. Since 1939 the R.E.A. has been a lending agency in the Department of Agriculture. Its present administrator, Norman M. Clapp, was appointed by President Kennedy in 1961. R.E.A. is exclusively a lending agency for the purpose of improving living conditions in rural America by means of electricity.

In his report to the regional meetings of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, Mr. Clapp enumerated the great progress that has been made by R.E.A. cooperatives over the years in creating new industries in rural areas and improving the daily lives of thousands of people who lived by lamplight and primitive household and agricultural facilities.

As an example, the Central Missouri Electric Cooperative, Inc., Sedalia, formed in January 1940, has borrowed $4,692,784 from REA and has repaid $2,960,281, including $941,785 in interest. The cooperative has 34 employees and serves 2,000 miles of line.

Although the total number of consumers is exactly 100 less than it was 10 years ago (1956... 5,243; 1966... 5,143), the KWH consumption has jumped nearly 200 per cent (1956... 13.5 million KWH; 1966... 39.5 million KWH) and the monthly average per consumer has jumped from 216 KWH in 1956 to 643 KWH in 1966.

Two developments have been responsible for the sizeable increase, despite the population decline, during the past decade.

1. The Cooperative now serves 24 missile sites and 3 control sites, which consume about 20 per cent of the Co-op's power each month.

2. The Co-op now serves approximately 30 small industries not on its lines a decade ago.

The quality of life in rural areas is changing, too. Deep freezers, air conditioning, electric heat (over 350 homes on the Cooperative's lines are all-electric) and feed conveyors have all contributed to the increased KWH consumption.

Administrator Clapp stressed the relationship between the war on poverty and the electrification program. He urged that poverty must be treated at its source by improving conditions through physical rehabilitation, better nutrition, sanitation, education and vocational training; but, he said, "employment is the ultimate weapon against poverty." Since the rural development program began in mid 1961, a total of 182,000 jobs for rural people have been created through 2,000 projects established with the help of R.E.A. electric and telephone borrowers.

That figure is only a drop in the bucket when we consider what needs to be done, but it is a great improvement when we consider what conditions were in the specific areas. In various reports on poverty in this country, Administrator Clapp noted the need for a rural and urban balance. Therefore, in this important election year he said members of Congress both rural and urban should be urged to support the rural electrification program.

Administrator Clapp used a strong phrase in his regional report. "The rural electrification program is in jeopardy! Its retention is important because it offers the nation an essential key to a balanced national development, a better country... a brighter tomorrow... for all Americans, rural and urban alike." He stressed three main objectives: "First, electric service must be generally available throughout rural America on an area coverage basis. Second, it must be available in quality and at a cost comparable to what is available in urban areas. Third, it must be available through sound, reliable, permanent systems and organizations to which people and business alike can look for continued service on into the future with complete confidence."

Aspirin, Heating Pad Helpful in Fibrositis

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q — What is the difference between arthritis, fibrositis and muscular neuritis? What causes fibrositis? Can it cause pain in the stomach? What is the best treatment for it?

A — Arthritis is an inflammation of the joints. Fibrositis, an inflammation of the fibrous tissues in the region of a joint, is such a vague term that most doctors now prefer to make a diagnosis of myositis (involvement of the muscles), tendinitis (involvement of the tendons) or bursitis (involvement of the bursal sac surrounding some joints). Muscular neuritis or neuromyositis is a combined inflammation of nerves and muscles in a given location.

The causes of fibrositis and the closely related conditions mentioned include direct injury, infection and exposure to cold. I would not expect fibrositis to cause pain in the abdomen. Aspirin by mouth and the local application of a heating pad usually give relief. A short course with one of the cortisone-like drugs is often helpful.

Q — Is it harmful to the eyes to read while lying in bed?

A — There is some experimental evidence that it is harmful to read while lying on your back. There is, however, no harm in reading while sitting in bed provided your back is properly supported and the lighting is adequate both from the standpoint of intensity and direction.

Q — Some time ago I had a severe pain in my right temple that left me totally blind in my right eye. My eye doctor said I would be lucky if I didn't go blind in my other eye. Could my high blood pressure have caused this?

A — Severe prolonged high blood pressure, if not controlled, can cause blindness but on the evidence presented I cannot say that that was the cause of your trouble. Why not have another examination by a well-qualified ophthalmologist?

Q — My nephew is suffering from partial blindness due to Coats' disease. What causes this? Is there any treatment or prevention?

A — This disease, also known as exudative retinopathy and hemorrhagic retinitis, is seen chiefly in young adult males. It is characterized by hemorrhages into the retina. The disease is slowly progressive and there is no effective treatment.

In yesterday's column we discussed the two spade response to one no-trump which shows both minor suits and any strength hand. Yesterday responder held one point. Today he holds eight high card points. Ordinarily he would simply bid three no-trump.

West would make his normal spade lead and the defense would collect five tricks before South could get around to cashing any clubs.

The artificial Jacoby two spade response asks South to rebid two no-trump with at least one and a half stoppers in each major. King-jack-small is the least holding that qualifies here. Otherwise, South rebids to three of his better minor.

The three club bid warns North away from three no-trump but he wants to make a further try for game and does so by bidding four clubs.

South could pass at this point but he has the right hand for going on. Since North has shown at least 10 minor suit cards South can count a maximum of one loser in the major suits and his good minor suit cards indicate that there won't be more than one loser there. In fact, South is ambitious enough to make a mild slam try. He does this by bidding four hearts. This can't be an attempt to get to a heart contract and must be read as a club slam try.

North looks at his eight points, refuses the invitation and closes the bidding at five clubs.

Strangely enough the spade lead allows South to make 12 tricks. He takes his ace of spades and knocks out the ace of clubs. It doesn't matter what West does at this stage. South will draw the rest of the trumps and discard his 10 and eight of hearts on dummy's long diamonds.

The slam will have been missed but North and South will have avoided getting set at three no-trump.

To Probe Credit Report System

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate antitrust investigators are quietly examining credit reporting agencies to find out if federal laws are needed to protect ordinary citizens against agency mistakes that can ruin a person's credit rating.

The antitrust and monopoly subcommittee headed by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., plans early summer public hearings on evidence gathered by its investigators over the past several months.

"People are frightened," said a subcommittee investigator. "With the volume of credit multiplying, and increasing reliance on credit reporting bodies, we must see if credit reports are as fair and accurate as they should be."

The customer who buys merchandise on credit in essence asks the merchant to approve his credit rating. The credit manager likely asks his local credit bureau what its centralized records show about the person's bill-paying habits. He may also question a credit bureau in the customer's former hometown.

A man looking for an insurance policy or a job may have credit agency checks run on him that involve not only his credit but other details of his personal life.

The price of a report is cheap. For 4 to 8 cents, the credit grantor can see if his potential customer is on a nationwide list of bad risks.

For $25, an insurance company can get a rundown on credit, personal habits and other details of an individual's life which may be based on from 2 to 10 interviews of his friends and associates.

A House subcommittee on privacy has been quizzing credit reporting agency officials for several months in attempting to determine whether their activities constitute an invasion of privacy.

Hart doesn't raise that question. The senator assumes as fact that information on a person's finances must be available in today's credit card society. His investigation is aimed at finding out whether legal safeguards are needed.

An investigator for Hart's subcommittee said it has received scores of complaints from persons who claim to have been victimized by credit reporting snafus, and hopes to get more before hearings begin.

Among examples in the subcommittee files is this complaint:

A middle-income man from a Southern state told investigators that his new automobile had so many defects that the manufacturer's credit financing division finally agreed to take back the car and require no further payments.

About this time the man was hired for a better job. But he lost the job when his credit record turned up with a blot on it. It turned out that the auto firm had listed the return of the defective car as a repossession—and wouldn't change the records.

The man's new employer said "right or wrong, I can't be bothered," and fired him, the subcommittee investigator said.

There are four major credit information enterprises:—Retail Credit Co. of Atlanta, Ga., a nationwide operation with more than 1,600 offices, which primarily provides information on individuals to insurers and employers.

—Credit Data Corp. of San Francisco, a computerized operation located primarily in California and New York which accumulates data on how persons pay their bills.

—Hooper-Holmes Bureau Inc. of Morristown, N.J., which publishes a list of so-called derogatories, i.e., bad credit risks.

—Associated Credit Bureaus of America, Inc., a coordinating agency for 2,000 local credit bureaus which hold credit records of 96 million people.

Monopoly and antitrust questions in a field so concentrated may be raised at the Hart subcommittee hearings.

Credit Data chairman Dr. Harry C. Jordan told the House privacy subcommittee in March his firm could have every American's name listed on its computers within five years.

The Hart subcommittee is investigating what the implication may be of such computerization and the resulting almost instantaneous transmittal and retrieval of a debtor's personal and credit history.

Credit Bureau Services, Inc., of Dallas, Tex., recently completed a $2 million computer conversion program. A data cell the size of an office wastebasket stores the credit records of 600,000 Dallas metropolitan area families.

The subcommittee wants to make sure the individual can get corrected information into such a data cell or other holding place.

Kansas City Negroes In A Petition

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A group of young Negroes met with civic and governmental officials in Kansas City Wednesday and asked for Negro history courses, better policing of the inner city area and a permanent means of communicating with community leaders.

Representatives from the police department, the Kansas City Board of Education, the city government, the Small Business Administration, the Housing Authority of Kansas City and the Chamber of Commerce were questioned by the youths.

They asked James A. Hazlett, superintendent of the Kansas City school district, for more textbook materials on Negro history and contributions to American civilization. They also requested that teaching of Negro history be established in the school system and that more job training be made available.

Lt. Charles Hick of the police department was asked why illegal liquor sales and prostitution were allowed to flourish in the inner city area.

Frank Vaydik, superintendent of parks and recreation, was asked for increased recreational facilities, including ball diamond lighting and more jobs with the parks department.

The youths asked that a high school graduate be prepared to hold down a skilled job upon graduation.

Fair housing is an issue which means little to young persons who cannot afford houses or apartments out of the inner city area. Vernon Thompson, one of the young persons who organized the meeting, said.

"Education and jobs are what is important to us."

Handle Food With Computer At a Prison

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Food stock inventory and automatic reordering of food supplies are being handled by computer at the Missouri Training Center for Men at Moberly.

Dr. Donald D. Scriven, director of Missouri's Administrative Services Agency, announced the new project today. He said the system probably will be expanded soon to all the 26 state institutions operating cafeterias for patients or inmates.

The new food stock inventory control by computer is a new approach, he explained. It uses a plastic item card system to keep the records, similar to the credit cards used by service stations.

Scriven said the new system is expected to result in more accurate inventory control, and hence provide a saving in tax money in the long run.

Nothing Like a Wining Streak To Give Baseball Team a Boost

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's nothing like a nice little winning string to give a baseball team a lift in the standings. Except, perhaps, a nice little losing streak by the guys directly in front of you.

Dodgers Down Cardinals In a Frustrating Game

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals have collapsed out of first place in the National League.

The Los Angeles Dodgers edged the Cardinals 3-2 Thursday in 11 innings for St. Louis' seventh loss in eight games. What made the loss even more frustrating for the Cards was the fact they whacked out 13 hits, but stranded 15 men.

John Purdin, 1-1 pitched two innings and got the victory. Dick Hughes, 0-2 pitched three innings and took the loss.

San Francisco's ambitious Giants have won eight of their last 11 games and St. Louis' cooperative Cardinals have dropped eight of their last 11. Result: A five-game pickup for the Giants and a change at the top of the National League race. San Francisco captured first

The Cardinals scored a run in the first, and a run in the seventh. The Dodgers scored a run in the sixth, again in the seventh and won it in the 11th on Willie Davis' double and Bob Bailey's single.

But in between, the Cardinals loaded the bases twice—once with none out and once with one out—and couldn't score. Altogether they had 10 men in scoring position and got only two runs.

"When you get a lot of chances and don't cash them in, you just go harder," Lou Brock said. "Hustle, that's the only way to snap out of this."

He looked around the clubhouse and added, "You never give up here."

"You try to keep telling yourself you'll bounce back. We're constantly saying we'll get them tomorrow," Brock added, "and we come back and fight harder."

Manager Red Schoendienst said, "You can't just say you're going to win it. You've got to do it."

Dodger Manager Walter Alton knows how Schoendienst feels. "The Dodgers have had a lot of games like that. You can't do much of anything about it. Just get a hit at the right time. That's the name of the game."

Schoendienst had a consoling thought, sort of. "At least it can't get any worse," Red mumbled. The Cardinals are being pulled down, but Curt Flood saw the shimmer of the clearer waters above.

"At least we got some hits," Flood pointed out. "Before we couldn't even get men as far as third base."

And sweat has yet to break out on General Manager Bing Devine's forehead about the slide the Cardinals are in.

"I've been down that road too many times," Devine grinned, "for something like this to throw me."

Not Happy With Golf, Wife Claims

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The fans who saw B. R. McLendon sink a 20-foot eagle putt to share the first-round lead in the $100,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament figured he was happy as a lark. But his wife, Joan, knew better.

"He didn't say anything to me, but when I saw him go to the practice tee after coming off the 18th, I knew he wasn't happy with his woods and long irons," the pretty blonde said.

McLendon, 22, who won the 1965-66-67 Southeastern Conference golf titles, came into the Memphis Open Thursday virtually unknown to the gallery.

Jim Lunn, 23, of Sacramento, Calif., shared the first-round lead with McLendon as both came in with five-under-par 65s Thursday. Lunn finished the round three hours ahead of McLendon, a late starter.

McLendon's wife is touring with him, but she didn't see his 67.

"I figure this is a day of work," he said. "A doctor doesn't take his wife to the office. But she hasn't seen guys like Arnold Palmer play. I'd like for her to come out and see him."

Only one stroke off the lead going into the second round were R. H. Sikes, Dick Mayer, Jack McGowan and Larry Mowry.

Palmer, golf's all-time leading money winner, shot a 69 in what he called an uninspiring round for Army's Army to watch. Jack Nicklaus, playing with him, had a 71.

place Thursday with a 5-4 victory over Atlanta while St. Louis was losing 3-2 in 11 innings to Los Angeles in the only NL games played. New York at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh at Chicago were rained out.

In the American League, Cleveland battered California 9-2 and Chicago's game at Washington was rained out. The other teams were not scheduled.

The Giants beat the Braves for the third straight time when Marty Martinez, a substitute catcher, let one of Cecil Upshaw's pitches get away with Ron Hunt on third base in the ninth inning.

Hunt had opened the ninth with a single and reached third on a sacrifice and a ground out before scoring on the passed ball.

The Braves had rallied to tie the game in the eighth inning on Joe Torre's fourth hit of the

KC Spurs Return Home For Two Games

The Kansas City Spurs return home this coming week to play two games. Extensive plans are being completed for the games this Memorial Day weekend.

The Spurs will play a team from Scotland, the Scottish Cup Champion, Dunfermline Athletics, here Thursday, May 30, at 6 p.m. in Kansas City's first International Memorial Day Soccer Classic. And, on Sunday, June 2 at 2 p.m., the Spurs resume North American Soccer League play here against the strong Vancouver Royals.

In a revived display of scoring power, the Spurs thumped Detroit, 4-1, last Wednesday to climb into first place in the Gulf Division of the NASL Western Conference. Kansas City moved ahead of Houston, 41-40, in league points with a record of 4 wins, 3 losses and 1 tie.

The fine showing against Detroit, before a crowd of 10,362, ended a two-game Kansas City slump in which the Spurs dropped a 2-1 decision to Washington and a 1-0 clash to Houston after averaging five goals in three straight outings.

game which drove in Hank Aaron. Aaron had tripled, scoring Tito Franona.

The Cardinals lost their seventh game in the last eight when Bob Bailey's 11th-inning single scored Willie Davis with the Dodgers' winning run.

Davis doubled opening the 11th and moved to third on a sacrifice. After Ron Fairly was intentionally walked, Tom Haller fouled out before Bailey singled.

Manager Walt Alton tempted fate in the bottom of the 11th when, with two out and the tying run on second, he ordered Orlando Cepeda intentionally

Steve Houck Bat Champ

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Steve Houck, little Oklahoma State sophomore who used weights in his comeback from a fifth grade attack of rheumatic fever, is the Big Eight batting champion after jumping his average 105 points to .424 in the final series of the league race.

Houck was 10-for-12 against Missouri at Columbia last weekend, closing with seven straight hits in the Saturday doubleheader. He started the weekend in 13th place at .319.

He edged Kansas State's Tom Wheeler, leader most of the season, who finished at .417 with 30 hits, just two short of the conference record. In third was Dan Ruth of Colorado at .369.

It's worth nothing that Wheeler, Ruth and Houck were teammates, along with Colorado catcher Bob Anderson the noted football quarterback, on the Boulder, Colo. Collegians, champions of the national non-pro tourney at Wichita last summer.

The 5-foot-9, 150-pound Houck said he worked with weights because he felt he was behind, but "Now I feel I can hit the ball as far as the big guys."

The league's top all-around hitter was Jack Woolsey of Kansas State, fourth at .361. He led the league in runs batted in with 26 — three short of the league record — in slugging percentage at .708, in home runs with five, in triples with four and tied for second with 9 stolen bases. It was Woolsey's second straight

Clubowners Give Side In a News Conference

NEW YORK (AP) — Faced with a "no contract, no football" threat from their veteran players, National Football League clubowners were to present their side of the economic picture at a news conference today.

The NFL Players' Association broke off negotiations Thursday after a meeting in which the owners refused to budge on any of the players' economic demands.

Dan Shulman, the players' lawyer, said a policy of NFL clubs not signing veterans until the current negotiations are over was "in effect, a lockout."

"There are certain positions open to us," he said. "We have to go back to the membership and ask if they are ready to take action. If they continue not signing veterans there just won't be any football."

"If they do sign veterans, then we are in the position of going back to the players and having them tell us what to do. If we get no contracts we have no choice. No football!"

Shulman listed some of the players' alternatives—not showing up for training camp, showing up for camp and then leaving, not playing exhibition games, not playing regular season games.

A league spokesman said it was "not true that there is a concerted movement" not to sign veteran players. He said many veterans have already signed, including some of the 16 walked, putting the winning run on base. The move paid off when reliever John Purdin retired Phil Gagliano on a fly ball, ending the game.

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran running back Bill Mathis signed his 1968 contract with the New York Jets Thursday.

Jose Cardenal smacked two singles, a double and homer leading a 18-hit Cleveland attack that carried the Indians past California.

Max Alvis, Tommy Harper and Jose Vidal also homered for the Indians, who moved within 1½ games of first-place Detroit.

Sonny Siebert scattered seven hits and won his sixth game. He also had a two-run single that got the Indians started in the second inning.

RBI crown, a record.

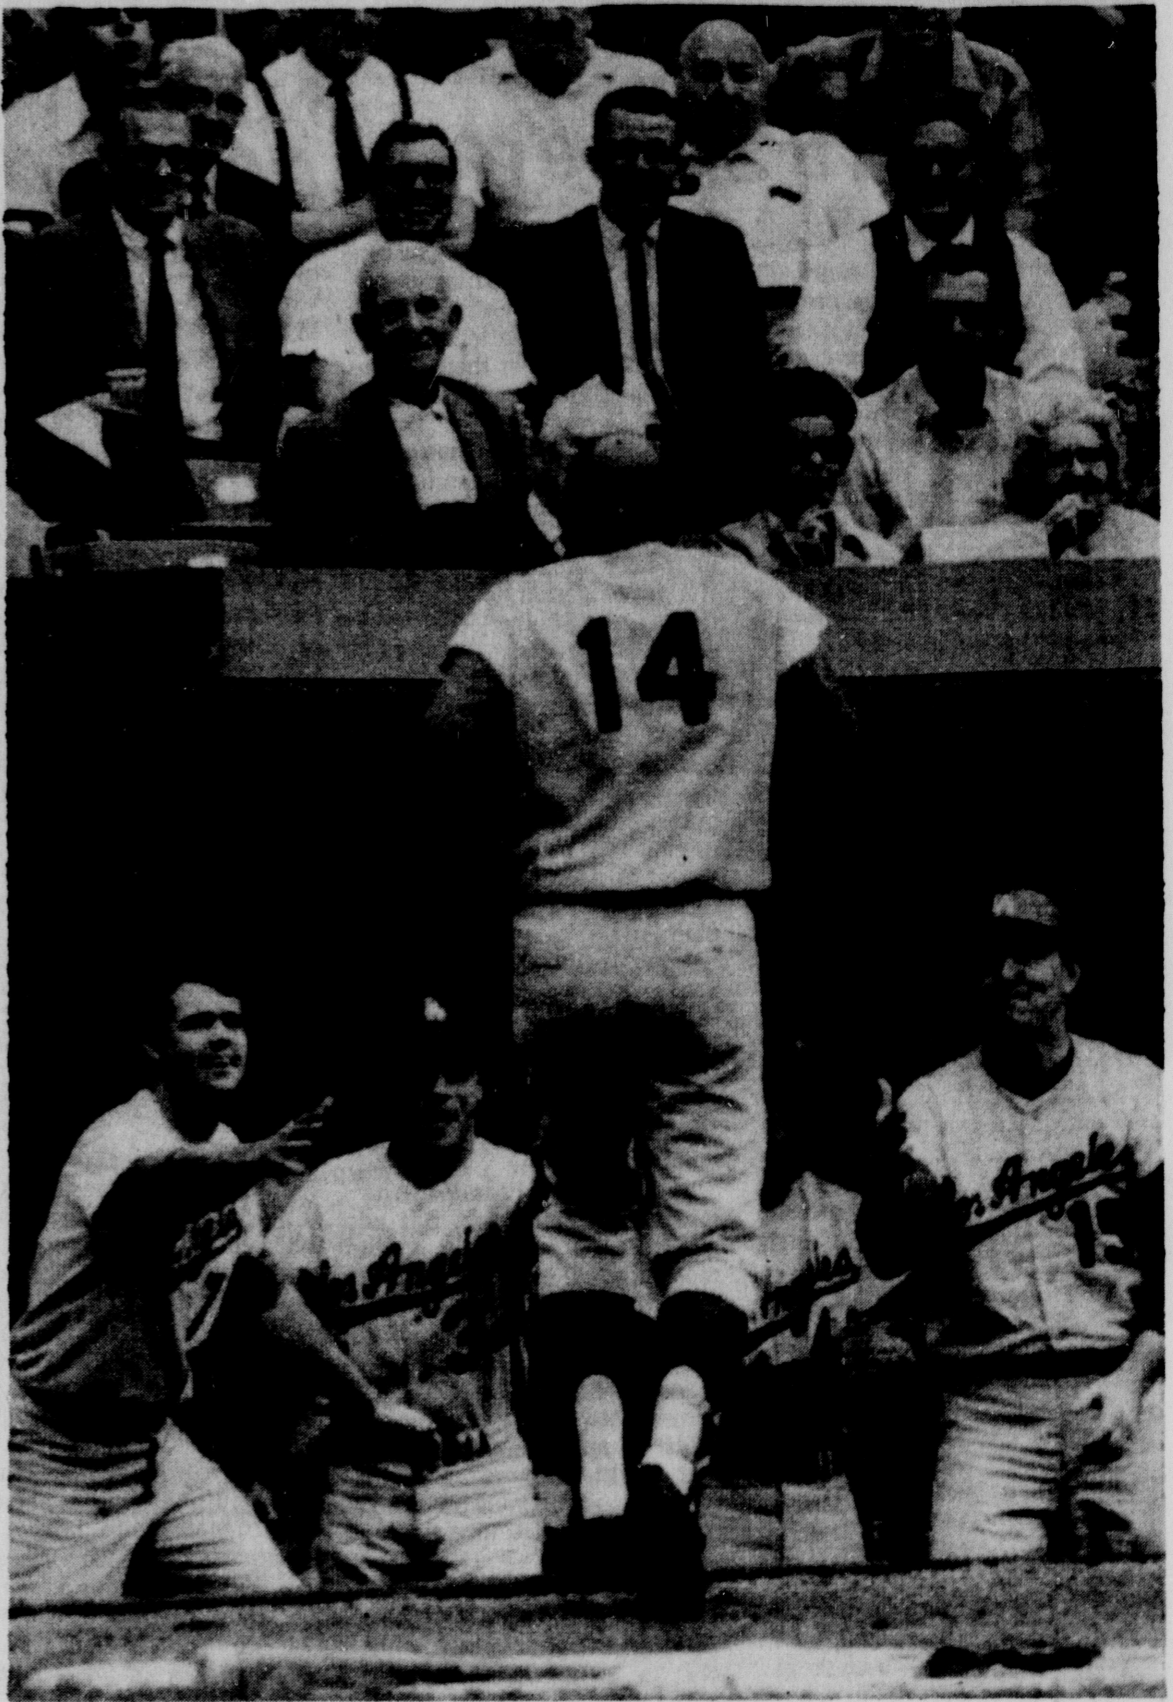

Dick Henninger, Missouri's 6-6 by 225 sophomore, was the Big Eight pitching champ with his 1.14 earned run average. His won-lost was 5-2. OSU's Mike Camp 4-1, was second at 1.78, with teammate Bill Maxwell, 3-0, third at 2.00.

Next came Randy Stroup of Kansas 2.25, Ron Hall of Oklahoma 2.30, Dave Hartman, of Iowa State 2.71 and Keith Winter of Nebraska 2.93. Bill Maddux of Kansas was the strike-out champ with a 1.27 average, 42 in 33 innings, followed by OSU's Bill Dobbs at 1.23 and K-State's Nick Horner at 1.17. Horner also tied the league record of seven victories.

OSU's Bob Richardson, whose 0.48 ERA came in 19 innings, eight short of the minimum to win the title, led in control with just two walks.

Other hitters in the top 10 were Danny Thompson of Oklahoma State .356, Lloyd Hutchinson of Colorado .352, Gary Brooks of Oklahoma .351, Scott Harrington of OU .349, Dick Turner of OU .348 and Bob Randall of K-State .333. Turner led the league with nine doubles. Gary Brown of Missouri was tops with 11 stolen bases.

In the team figures, OSU emerged as the best Big Eight champ since Missouri's unbeaten 1964 club which finished No. 2 nationally. Chet Bryan's club led in hitting at .294, in staff ERA with 2.01, outscored league foes 122 to 43 and tied K-State with a .958 fielding mark.

Hands Of Greeting

Hands of greeting are extended to Los Angeles Dodgers' Len Gabrielson as he trots to the dugout after hitting a one-run homer in the sixth Thursday. Dodgers won 3-2. (UPI)

Maple Leafs Add More Age To Defenses

TORONTO (AP) — The goal-hungry Toronto Maple Leafs added more age to their already ancient but efficient defense corps Thursday by obtaining veteran All-Star Pierre Pilote from the Chicago Black Hawks in a surprising National Hockey League trade.

To obtain the 36-year-old Pilote, Toronto gave up right wing Jim Pappin, 28, who has played with the Leafs for parts of five seasons and was one of the stars of their 1967 Stanley Cup victory.

Pilote was named to the first All-Star team five times and to the second team three times in his 13 NHL season. He won the Norris Trophy as the best defenseman in the league in 1963, 1964 and 1965.

Pilote joins Toronto defensemen Allan Stanley, 42, Tim Horton, 38, and Marcel Pronovost, who will be 38 next month. Goalie Johnny Bower is 43.

Drug Plagues the Sports

BOSTON (AP) — The medication, fit for a human but not for a horse, is manufactured elsewhere, but Massachusetts is becoming known as the home of the bute.

The casual race fan knew little about phenylbutazone, a pain-relieving medication, until Dancer's Image, owned by Boston sportsman Peter Fuller, was disqualified in the Kentucky Derby.

The trade name of butazolidin helped the fan little. All he knew was that the first New England-owned winner of the Derby had been disqualified and placed last.

Reports, which filtered in later, said that such outstanding athletes as Sandy Koufax and Whitey Ford took bute to prolong their baseball careers.

Clash In Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Light heavyweight champion Dick Tiger spots towering Bob Foster age, height, weight and reach but not in heart tonight when they clash in a 15-round title fight at Madison Square Garden.

Foster's physical advantages and his punching power have combined to make the 29-year-old challenger from Washington, a 12-5 favorite over the 38-year-old defender from the Republic of Biafra. The odds could go down by fight time.

The bout is scheduled for 9:30 p.m., EDT. It will be telecast in some areas of the nation by Sports Network. New York will be blacked out of the telecast.

The Garden hopes for a crowd of 15,000 and a gate of $150,000 which would get both Foster and the promotion off the financial hook. Foster has taken 60 per cent of the net gate and television and guaranteed Tiger $100,000 out of his percentage. He may wind up fighting for nothing.

Booked With Friends On Drug Possession

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lucius Allen, star guard for UCLA's national championship basketball team, was booked with four friends Thursday night on charges of possession of marijuana, police said.

Police Sgt. John Colella said officers detected the odor of marijuana after halting their speeding car in an alley in central Los Angeles.

It was one year to the day that Allen was arrested at his West Los Angeles apartment and charged with possession of marijuana, a charge which was later dropped.

Booked with Allen were Melanie Martin, Alla L. Bullen, Bonnie Jean Goss and John Woolery. Police said all were UCLA students in their early 20s. Allen, 20, is a junior.

Turns Hearing Aid Off in Tight Spot

Dear Ann Landers: I need the opinion of a fair-minded person. A certain relative of mine wears a hearing aid. She likes to argue a lot and usually on subjects she doesn't know anything about. Whenever she gets in a tight spot and realizes she is losing the argument she turns off her hearing aid.

This little maneuver can drive a person up the wall. What can be done to combat unfair tactics of this sort? — WILLING TO LISTEN

Dear Willing: What I'm about to suggest is a dirty trick, but under the circumstances it's what she deserves. The next time you have a discussion and the relative begins to show signs of irritation, stop talking — just move your lips. She will think her hearing aid has gone on the fritz and while she is switching it off and on, you can speak your piece.

Dear Ann Landers: This is a second marriage for both my wife and me. Lois and I get along well and this marriage is a good one. Our only disagreements result from Lois' animosity toward the nieces and nephews of my previous marriage.

I have known these children since birth and I love them very much. It never occurred to me that we are no longer related, as Lois insists. True, they are the children of my former wife's sister and brother, but the divorce has not changed my feeling for them.

Last Christmas, Lois and I had our first serious argument. She was visibly upset when I bought gifts for my nieces and nephews. She accused me of using them as an excuse to stay linked with my former wife — which is absurd.

If there is any validity to Lois' criticism please tell me and I will rethink the situation. — TROUBLE IN CLEVELAND

Dear Trouble: A second wife who tries to isolate her husband from all his previous ties makes a serious mistake. She should be smart enough to know that he will eliminate some of the old connections because he wants to. The ones he wishes to maintain should not be tampered with. If a second wife succeeds, through pressure, in getting her husband to sever all old ties he may become resentful and decide he made a bad bargain. Got it? I hope your wife gets it, too.

Dear Ann Landers: Why can't girls be paper boys? I am 11 years of age and ever since I can remember I have wanted to have a paper route.

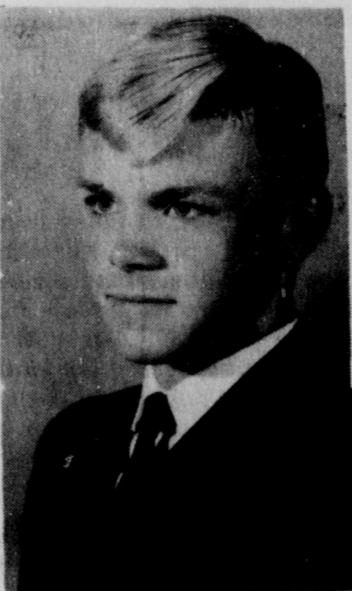

My brother had a route last year and half the time I took it over because he was sick or had something else to do. I really enjoyed it and would love a route of my own.

Most girls are as strong as boys and they are every bit as dependable, maybe even more so. Delivering papers is fun. It teaches kids to be responsible and it is a great way to earn money. Since females are supposed to have equal rights nowadays why can't they be hired to do this work? — AGAINST UNFAIRNESS

Dear Against: A fine question — and one for which I have no answer. Let's ask those fine gentlemen — the backbone of the industry — the circulation managers of the nation's newspapers. Why can't girls be paper boys?

Bermuda's White Party Wins By a Big Margin

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Bermuda's pro-British white party drew wide backing from the resort island's Negro majority and rode an apparent backlash against rioting last month to a 3 to 1 victory today in the colony's first one-man, one-vote election.

The conservative United Bermuda party took 30 of the 40 seats in the House of Assembly while the Negro Progressive Labor party won only 10. The Labor party had promised to cut the colony's 359-year-old ties with Britain.

The Bermuda Democratic party, also largely Negro, was blanked.

The United party's victory had been expected, but its proportions were a surprise. The white-dominated party asserted Negro mobs who rioted April 25-26 were incited at least in part by the Labor party.

No violence or even minor incidents were reported during the balloting Wednesday. The British frigate Leopard was anchored offshore, however, as a precaution.

Walter Robinson, the Labor party leader who said his forces would win 26 seats and have the British out in "six months to a year," lost in his district.

Whites took 26 of the 40 seats, although about 55 per cent of the 20,918 eligible voters were Negroes. The United party ran 13 Negro candidates, and seven of them were elected.

Many of the Negroes were voting for the first time, due to reduction of the age requirement from 25 to 21. The whites also lost an advantage with the removal of property qualifications that had given some property owners two votes in previous elections.

Sir Henry Tucker, a wealthy banker who leads the United party, will become the chief minister in charge of the government.

Under a new constitution, the parliament and the executive council it names will run island affairs. Only foreign relations, defense and internal security will continue under the resident governor chosen by the British government.

Tucker had stressed in his campaign that victory for the Labor party would drive away American tourists and investors who are the major source of income on the island 680 miles southeast of New York. He said the Laborites had "Soviet friends."

Signs of Progress

BIRNEY, Mont. (AP) — Gov. Tim Babcock lunched on barbecue in a driving rain, then presented diplomas to the four members of the eighth grade graduating class Wednesday in this southeastern Montana community of 20.

"I particularly enjoy this graduation because the class is just twice the size as mine when I graduated from the Cracker Box Creek School System, District 3 of Dawson County, in 1934," Babcock, the Republican candidate for re-election, said.

The two-room school has 27 students in eight grades and two teachers, one of whom also serves as principal.

Students Put France In Chaos

PARIS (AP) — Several hundred students clashed with police here Thursday night in a renewal of the violence that has led France into social and industrial chaos.

A battle developed near the St. Michael Bridge over the River Seine in the wake of a Cabinet meeting at which President Charles de Gaulle conferred with his ministers on his plans for dealing with the strike crisis, the gravest of his 10-year-old regime.

De Gaulle is to address the nation in a radio-television broadcast at 8 p.m. Friday and is expected to announce the decisions at that time. There was no public hint in advance of what he intends to propose.

Students marched toward the St. Michael Bridge from the Latin Quarter, but were forced back by police hurling tear gas grenades.

Their numbers mounting by the minutes, the youths dug out cobblestones and ripped away metal tree guards for makeshift weapons. They erected a small street barricade. Sidewalk cafe owners pulled in their chairs and slammed down their metal shutters.

The spark that set off the trouble was not immediately made known. But students are angry at the government's ban of one of their leaders from France and planned a big-scale demonstration for Friday.

French analysts considered the government, which has already promised academic reforms to meet the demands of demonstrating students, will have to reappraise its entire economic policy.

Mass demonstrations of peasants are expected.

UAW Criticized For Breaking Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The International Association of Machinists, which twice walked out of labor confederation in a 16-year quarrel, criticized the United Auto Workers Thursday for breaking with the AFL-CIO.

"We went through the revolving door and we found it to be a mistake," said P. L. Roy Sie Miller, president of the Machinists, which finally returned to the fold of the AFL-CIO in 1956.

The machinists, the first fellow union to publicly criticize Walter Reuther's auto workers, said the new split weakens the labor movement.

The 1.6-million member auto workers union was suspended by AFL-CIO President George Meany last week for refusing to

First Woman Toll Taker Over River

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Drivers through a southbound toll gate on the Broadway bridge over the Missouri River saw this city's first woman toll taker, Mrs. Ernestine Peace, Thursday.

The 23-year-old mother of two small children said she took the job "simply because it is a job." She has been a temporary clerk in the city treasurer's office.

She was only half in uniform on her first day. The city's uniform supply was designed for men and she was outfitted in cap and a jacket but her own green slacks.

US Death Toll Up Last Week

SAIGON (AP) — A near record number of American troops were killed last week, reflecting the increased intensity of combat while peace talks drag on in Paris. U.S. officers reported Thursday. Plane losses over North Vietnam also are mounting.

Battles last week killed 549 U.S. troops, surpassed in the war only by the 562 Americans lost in combat the previous week, the American command said. Another 2,282 were wounded, 57 more than the week before.

In the air war, two more planes were shot down Wednesday over North Vietnam, bringing to 10 the number lost in May. Nine planes were lost in February, 11 in March and 16 in April.

The rising air losses were attributed to a combination of a larger number of missions over the North and an enemy buildup of anti-aircraft weapons in the southern panhandle, now that the heartland of North Vietnam is off limits.

The burden of combat in recent weeks had been borne by U.S. forces in two areas in the far north along the demilitarized zone between the Vietnams and as far as 100 miles to the south near Da Nang and around Saigon.

Associated Press correspondent John T. Wheeler reported from Da Nang, however, that the next big enemy drive may come in the central highlands. Wheeler said informed sources reported two regiments of the North Vietnamese 325th Division completed a 165-mile march south from near Khe Sanh in the far northwest to an area west of Kontum, in the highlands.

In addition, two other regiments normally operating around Da Nang disappeared after striking out to the southwest in the direction of Kontum.

The North Vietnamese also are constructing a road south of the A Shau Valley toward Kontum. This road was built from infiltration routes in Laos to connect with Route 14.

The North Vietnamese apparently consider this route important for they recently drove U.S. and South Vietnamese forces from Kham Duc, a Special Forces camp that checked on traffic on and around Route 14.

Reagan Back To Battle For Tax Cuts

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan returned from a presidential-campaign-style trip Thursday to battle Democratic attempts to scuttle his plans on how to give Californians $190 million in property and income tax cuts.

The Republican chief executive was pleased with the reception he got during his week-long GOP fund-raising tour to the South and East—a tour considered a reconnaissance for potential support for his party's presidential nomination. The previous week he was out of state, too—at a governors' meeting in Hawaii.

But he was irked by the undercurrent of political intrigue in the Legislature while out of the state, aides said. He planned immediate conferences with top assistants to map counter-strategy.

Democrats amended Wednesday Reagan's $155 million property tax relief bill so heavily that its chances for passage in the present form are almost nonexistent. Led by Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh—Robert F. Kennedy's California campaign manager—they pumped into the bill the $35 million Reagan wants to give back to middle-income taxpayers in the form of income tax cuts next year.

Ruling Given By Anderson On Mud Flaps

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Atty. Gen. Norman H. Anderson ruled today a tractor which pulls a trailer is not a truck under the law and therefore does not have to carry mud flaps on its backwheels.

Flaps are required only for combination truck-tractor trailers, Anderson said, and for other trucks.

In another opinion Anderson held an employee who retires under a union contract at the age of 65 is no longer eligible to receive unemployment compensation benefits. Neither is a worker whose Social Security benefits exceed his unemployment benefits.

Still Failure Chance In Viet Peace Talks

PARIS (AP) — The American delegation now believes the Paris talks seeking a road to peace in Vietnam can go on for a long time, but U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman said Thursday the possibility of failure cannot be ruled out.

The chief U.S. negotiator made it clear he was not predicting failure, but was stating that talks such as these could not go on and on indefinitely as a propaganda exercise without getting down to substance.

But the outlook was discouraging for Americans. The meeting with the North Vietnamese seemed settling into the familiar and frustrating pattern of past negotiations of the West with the Communists.

Thus the U.S. negotiators, Harriman and Cyrus R. Vance, face a laborious task in trying to get the meeting out of the area of appeals to world opinion and down to businesslike discussions.

"This sort of thing cannot go on forever," Harriman remarked to reporters as he left his hotel for the U.S. Embassy. "The North Vietnamese are going to have to face up to the realities of the situation."

Then, in a second encounter with reporters later in the Harriman suggested that there was a chance of failure in Paris. His remark seemed to be aimed at countering the statement made Wednesday by Xuan Thuy, the chief North Vietnamese negotiator, that if the talks failed, the Americans would be responsible before the world.

"My own judgment," said Harriman, "is that we're here for a long time, that the other side feels they want to have talks, and certainly President Johnson has shown every indication of wanting to come to an agreement. But both sides have got to show some willingness to talk substance, willingness to move ahead. You can't keep talks going just as a propaganda medium. We have to move into a period of more productive results."

The two sides have had four sessions, talked together 14 hours and made no progress. Hanoi's attitude is unchanged from April 3 when it accepted contact: the talks would be held simply "with a view to determining with the American side the unconditional cessation" of all acts of war against the North. To the Hanoi delegation, the talks here are only "official conversations."

U.S. talks with Communist North Korea occupied two years, during which fighting in that war killed and wounded tens of thousands.

It took a month for the two sides in Korea to agree even on what they would talk about, and two years to wrangle over the meaning of almost every word which passed between them. Americans here shudder when they recall the Korean experience.

Man Charged With Striking Police Officer

Jimmie John Spear, 24, Clinton, was charged Thursday morning by Prosecuting Attorney Henry Keeler with striking a police officer in performance of his duties. A bond of $1,000 on the felony charge was fixed in Magistrate Court.

Spear is alleged to have assaulted Lt. Jewell Riley of the Sedalia Police Dept. when Spear was compelled to get out of a car.

The incident took place at about 7 p.m. Wednesday in the vicinity of Pacific and Ohio streets, after police had received a report of several pistol shots being fired from a car in the 200 block of East Main.

Also arrested was Robert P. Jones of Marshall. He was charged with resisting arrest.

'No Defeat' For US During Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said Thursday that while America still hopes for peace through the Paris negotiations, "We shall not be defeated on the battlefield while the talks go on."

The President's public notice to Hanoi, in brief remarks honoring the heroes of Khe Sanh, came as U.S.-North Vietnamese envoys at the French capital headed into their third week of discussions in apparent deadlock.

An accompanying administration warning to the American people to brace for a protracted period of hard fighting-while-talking was delivered by Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford in asking a Senate appropriations subcommittee for nearly $80 billion for the U.S. armed services next year.

With North Vietnam infiltrating men and supplies into the south instead of cutting back in response to Johnson's March 31 bombing curtailment, "more hard fighting undoubtedly lies ahead," Clifford testified.

He added: "These developments, while disappointing, should not be surprising. The North Vietnamese have consistently stated that their intention was to fight and negotiate, and we must be prepared, both physically and psychologically, to do the same."

Johnson spoke at a White House ceremony in bestowing a presidential unit citation for gallantry in action on the 26th Marine Regiment. These 3rd Division troops at the outpost just below the Demilitarized Zone successfully withstood a heavy North Vietnamese siege for seven weeks earlier this year.

The President said the GIs at Khe Sanh greatly strengthened the U.S. initiative toward talks with North Vietnam. "For they vividly demonstrated to the enemy the utter futility of his attempts to win a military victory in the South."

"All of us in America hope that the road to peace will lead through the talks in Paris."

Johnson said, "but it is still not clear that Hanoi is ready for an early or an honorable peace."

"The flow of infiltrators and of equipment from North Vietnam has never been greater than it is now. There is still very bitter fighting in many areas of South Vietnam."

"There has been no visible lessening of Hanoi's aggressive efforts. In fact, Hanoi today is telling its forces in the South that they must continue their offensive to support their negotiations in Paris."

"For our part we shall seriously and soberly pursue negotiations toward an honorable and peaceful settlement of the war."

"But this should also be clear: We shall not be defeated on the battlefield while the talks go on. We shall not permit the enemy's mortars and rockets to go unanswered and to permit him to achieve a victory that would make a mockery of the negotiations."

A statement generally supporting the administration's position was issued by a 14-man panel of prominent citizens, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The group voiced fear that many Americans have been misled into expecting "too much, too soon" from the Paris meetings.

Recalling the two years of negotiations required to end the Korean war, the citizens panel noted that the Reds consider negotiations as a way of fighting a war and they warned against yielding at the conference table hard-won gains on the battlefield.

Their 1,700-word statement was issued by the "Citizens Committee for Peace With Freedom in Vietnam," a committee of about 190 nationally prominent citizens organized as a nonpartisan group last fall by former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill. and including former President Harry S. Truman.

Rainfall Is Heavy In Area

Despite some local flooding, most farmers in this area welcomed the 2.05 inches of rainfall recorded from 7 a.m. Wednesday to 7 a.m. Thursday.

Rainfall was steady throughout most of Wednesday, but more than one inch was recorded during a one-hour period early Thursday morning. This downpour brought on some flooding along Broadway in Sedalia. The MKT underpass was closed to traffic for about one hour.

Some parts of West Broadway were covered but traffic continued to move. The area on West Broadway from Limit west to the city limits, where construction is under way, was described as "a mess."

During the early morning downpour, the Columbia Weather Bureau issued a severe thunderstorm and tornado warning for Moniteau, Cole and the eastern part of Morgan Counties. This warning was in effect from 7:30 to 9 a.m. The warning was later passed on to counties east of this area.

A funnel cloud was sighted at 7:10 a.m. about 10 miles southeast of Stover. The cloud did not touch the ground, however residents in the area reported high winds and a "tremendous roar" overhead. The system was traveling northeast at an estimated 60 to 70 miles per hour. No damage was reported. A Missouri State Highway patrolman in the Jamestown area reported turbulent clouds overhead but no damage.

According to the Pettis County Extension Office, the moisture reserve in this area was low, and the rainfall should build this reserve back up to requirements for soybeans being planted now, and for corn to be planted later.

Sharp Mind Makes Up For Body

By RALPH JONES

Democrat-Capitol Staff Writer

A graduation this week at the Children's Therapy Center could be called a success story, or a climax, or both.

Tuesday, Roger Garlich, director of the center, presented a diploma signifying graduation from the eighth grade to James W. Rennison, who has attended classes at the center for the past 11 years. It is the first such diploma ever presented by the center, which testifies to the successful operation of the center and a long, hard struggle by James, his parents and teachers.

James is a victim of cerebral palsy, described as having "a body that won't work, but a mind that will." He first began attending the center in August, 1957, where he enrolled for speech and physical therapy and classroom programs.

Although the cerebral palsy affected his movements and motor abilities, it was soon learned by personnel of the center that James possessed above-average intelligence. With this knowledge, therapy continued and schooling progressed, with the goal in mind of eventually preparing the student for high school some day.

For both James and the center, this is a success story. But is not really a climax for the new graduate, because plans are being made for his entrance into high school, and eventually college.

Achievement Crowned

Roger Garlich, director of the Children's Therapy Center, is shown presenting a diploma signifying graduation from the 8th Grade to James W. Rennison. Looking on are Mrs. Lula Carson, right ungraded classroom teacher, and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Rennison, Sedalia.

This goal has been achieved primarily because the people of Sedalia and Pettis County have cared enough to provide charitable dollars for the program at the center. Without this support, James may never have had the opportunity to attend high school.

Arrangements are in the making to obtain vocational rehabilitation funds for his college education after graduation from high school.

"Surely, this story will serve as an inspiration to both handicapped children and their parents," Garlich said.

Land Is Purchased By Crown Hill

The Sedalia Cemetery Association has purchased a tract of land just across Engineer from the new part of Crown Hill Cemetery, to be used for cemetery expansion.

Harry Walch, cemetery board president, made the announcement of the land purchase, 20 acres from the Pontius estate, at a regular board meeting at the Farm & Home building recently.

Floyd McFarland, cemetery superintendent, reviewed improvements made at the cemetery in the past few years. These include two miles of hard-surfaced new roads made possible through joint efforts of the city, County Court and the Twelve-Mile Road District. The iron fence at Calvary Cemetery and the entrance fences have been repainted. More than 100 dead trees have been removed and the remainder are to be removed this year.

A new utility building has been constructed to shelter equipment and to enable workmen to repair equipment during bad weather.

Glenwood Cemetery has been cleaned of all brush and dead trees and now conforms to the remainder of the Crown Hill area.

Future plans call for reworking secondary roads and graveling new roads.

McFarland said his crews are busy mowing grass and keeping the area in top condition for Memorial Day. More than 50 new trees have been planted as memorials. He noted that the board would like to have some dogwood trees in addition to the others that have been donated.

Others, besides Walch and McFarland, who attended the meeting were Mrs. Marvin Crutcher, Mrs. Charles Van Dyne, Jack Bloess and the secretary, Mrs. Clyde Waters.

De Gaulle on Olympus?

The suddenness with which an incident involving a handful of students at one branch of the University of Paris escalated into a virtual shutdown of all work and business in France has amazed the world.

The elusive stability which Charles de Gaulle supposedly brought to his nation has proved to be but a temporary lid on the historical French penchant for the politics of revolution.

As the French themselves say, the more things change, the more they remain the same.

De Gaulle instituted needed changes in the form of government but not its substance; he gave it the veneer of democracy but not the body. He has given Frenchmen the cake of a refurbished national prestige but not the bread of a steadily improving standard of living. He has given them a nuclear-armed "force de frappe" but not better housing and better pay. He has given them a stockpile of gold and visions of grandeur but not the solution to long-standing economic and social problems.

The signs were there to read in 1965 in the presidential election, when De Gaulle failed to receive a majority mandate and was forced into a run-off election, and in the general election last year, when Gaullists squeaked through to retain control of the National Assembly by one vote.

France is now undergoing her most severe crisis since the end of the Algerian war when disgruntled generals and rightists threatened civil war.

But De Gaulle had the mass of the people behind him 10 years ago. Today, it is the people against De Gaulle and the reactionary government he symbolizes.

The question is whether the hero of the past can once again identify himself with the true spirit and aspirations of the French people or whether he has outlived his time.

It is difficult to come down from Olympus once you have been up there. For De Gaulle, it may be both impossible and too late, supported only by narrow vote margins.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Big Money in Politics Is Scandal

DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The most important thing to watch in elections today is the increasing power of money. It's become so you must be a millionaire or have the backing of big business or big labor to run for public office.

This column has spent a good many years exposing the influence of money in politics, ranging from the campaign money-raising dinners of Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., to the backdoor contributions of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., and Rep. Parnell Thomas, R-N.J. Some of these gentlemen went to jail, including Thomas, Howard Brehm, R-Ohio, Ernest Bramblett, R-Calif., Andrew May, D-Kv., and former Governor of Louisiana Richard Leche, with some of his associates in the "second Louisiana Purchase."

Directly or indirectly, these had to do with money in politics; sometimes with the fund-raising efforts of candidates who were not millionaires.

The problem is still there. The current election once again is witnessing how big money plays a big part in influencing votes. The candidate who has, gets. The candidate who doesn't have, either puts himself in hock, or loses.

To focus attention on this unfair system we would like to propose that the Pulitzer prize winners of recent years form a committee to investigate big campaign spending. Having never won a Pulitzer and having no expectation of winning one, neither I nor Jack Anderson can serve on that committee. But we will be delighted to feed it information from the sidelines.

The winners of Pulitzer prizes have an obligation to society. They were chosen for this high award because they followed in the tradition of Joseph Pulitzer in exposing wrong, in crusading for justice. They should continue in that tradition, not be content to rest on their laurels.

— Senate Once Had Courage —

The problem of big money in politics is one which goes to the very roots of democracy. It completely nullifies the tradition taught in our schoolbooks that the boy born in a log cabin or on the farm can go to the White House.

We should not have to rewrite our schoolbooks to make them read, "Yes, he can go to the White House — if he marries, if he becomes the idol of big business, if he becomes the servant of labor, or if he finagles, begs, borrows or steals several million dollars for campaign funds."

There was a time when the senate investigated these problems and acted with courage. When William Vare, the Republican boss of Pennsylvania, ran against his fellow Republican, George Wharton Pepper, in 1926 and spent around a million dollars, the Senate barred Vare from taking his seat.

There were some righteous Senators in Congress in those days. The old Teddy Roosevelt-Hiram Johnson-Bob La Follette Republican progressives were still influential. About the same time, they cracked down on Sen. Frank Smith when he spent $125,000 in Illinois, contributed by the big utility magnate, Sam Insull. Smith was also barred from taking his seat.

In the 1940s Sen. Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island conducted a running Senate investigation of campaign spending. He did it while the campaigns were in progress, not afterwards. This permitted voters to know who was trying to influence votes before election day, not afterward. Sen. Green was in his late 80s when he conducted this probe, 93 when he retired from the Senate.

Another elder statesman, Sen. Carl Hayden of Arizona, also did a forthright job of investigating campaign expenditures when he was chairman of the senate rules committee. He had the courage, along with Sen. Tom Hennings of Missouri, to investigate the financial finagling of the late Sen. Joe McCarthy and the scandalous manner in which he was using money contributed to him for fighting Communism to speculate on the commodity market.

Sen. Hennings is dead now and Sen. Hayden is about to retire at the age of 91. Younger men have not stepped forward to take their places when it comes to scrutinizing campaign funds.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., did a fairly good job of scrutinizing the campaign funds of the 1956 Eisenhower-Stevenson campaign, but he did not issue his report until after the election. By that time it was too late for the voters to benefit from it.

His report still stands as the Bible of campaign contributions, showing as it did how the Rockefeller family contributed $152,604; the Dupont family contributed $248,423; the Mellons of Pittsburgh tossed in $100,510; and the Pews of Sun Oil in Philadelphia ponied up $216,800. There were no comparable big contributors on the Democratic side that year, though in earlier Roosevelt days the name of Joseph P. Kennedy turned up as loaning $65,000 to the Democrats, a loan later defaulted so that it became an actual contribution. This was a bonanza gift in those days when the dollar meant more, and was the real start of Kennedy influence in politics.

Today there is no senate committee entrusted with scrutinizing campaign spending, either in the primaries or in the final election.

This is why we suggest that the Pulitzer Prize winners of recent years step forward and earn their salt by making this contribution to better government. We'll be glad to help them from the sidelines.

Doctors, Teachers

There is a great shortage of doctors and teachers in this country. The shortage is felt most keenly in the middle west and in rural areas. The various polls made periodically reveal these facts. A companion poll indicates that many persons who live in large cities would prefer to live in smaller cities and towns. Many Negroes prefer to live in their original rural areas and in small towns but they have had to go where the jobs are.

Perhaps it will take some sort of specialized computer to balance the desires and needs of a large segment of our population. A doctor must go where he will find patients; a teacher will go where the salary meets her living requirements. Individuals who live in crowded tenements yearn for the wide open spaces. There should be a way to bring them together.

It takes about nine years of study and training to become a doctor and then another year or two to establish a practice. That is expensive and time consuming. Medical schools are difficult to get into, but with the growing need at home and the absolute necessity of medical care in Vietnam, a concerted drive will have to be made to encourage doctors to go to the areas where the need is greatest. Some may even have to make house calls and become general practitioners again. Teachers may have to sacrifice something and go where the desire to teach must be more important than the paycheck.

Green Revolution

Amidst violence and rebellion, a quiet revolution is taking place in the world called the "green Revolution." This is William S. Gaud's (Administrator for Foreign Aid) term for the gradual improvement program for feeding the hungry people of the world. He reports a record grain crop in India which could make that country self-sufficient in food grains in four years. Pakistan may achieve that goal in one year; the Philippines may have enough rice for its own people almost any day; Turkey and many other countries have achieved record wheat crops.

President Johnson's "Food for Freedom" report proclaims "an agricultural revolution is in the making. The price in accomplishments today will seem small beside the progress we can make tomorrow." The science and technology provided by this country in the form of fertilizers; better and quicker growing seed, and native self-help appears to be on the way to conquer famine and starvation. But no sooner do some of these countries grow enough to feed the present population than a new generation gets hungry. The "green Revolution" is catching up with food shortages in many countries, but there is still danger that the population growth will exceed the food supply, although the shoots of hope have begun to sprout.

Shuck Illusions About Ho; He's Not a Viet Nationalist

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

UDORN, THAILAND (NEA)

There are reports in U.S. papers that a number of American "experts" believe Ho Chi Minh and his people are more nationalist than Communist.

These reports bring to mind what some "authorities" were saying about Mao Tse-tung and his Communist associates in China in World War II.

The following are excerpts from a U.S. embassy report in 1944 by a U.S. diplomat then considered as one of the top political experts on Communist China. This report said:

"The Chinese Communists are backsliders. They still acclaim the infallibility of Marxist dogma and call themselves Communists. But they have become indulgent of human frailty and confess that China's Communist salvation can be attained only through prolonged evolutionary rather than immediate revolutionary conversion. Like that other eminent backslider, Ramsay MacDonald (leader of the British Labor party and three-time British prime minister), they have come to accept the inevitability of gradualness."

"Yenan is no Marxist New Jerusalem. The saints and prophets of Chinese Communism, living in the austere comfort of caves scooped out of loose cliffs, lust after the strange gods of class compromise and party coalition, rather shame-facedly worship the golden calf of foreign investments and yearn to be considered respectable by worldly standards. . . ."

"There are several reasons for the moderation of the Communists."

"1—They are Chinese. Being Chinese, they are, for all of their early excesses, temperamentally inclined to compromise and harmony in human relationships."

"2—They are realists. They recognize that . . . not until China has developed through several generations will it be ready for communism, that the immediate program must . . . be agrarian reform and the introduction of political democracy."

"3—They are nationalists. In more than seven years of bitter fighting against a foreign enemy the primary emotional and intellectual emphasis has shifted from internal social revolution to nationalism."

"4—They have begun to come into power. As has been the experience in virtually all successful revolutionary movements, accession to power is bringing a sobering realization of responsibility and a desire to move cautiously and moderately."

In the 24 years since 1944, it is clear how badly that embassy "expert" failed in his estimate of the Chinese Communists.

This reporter was in Yenan, the "capital" of Communist China, when that embassy report was written. The "authority" who wrote it dashed hurriedly in and out of Yenan as an "expert." He made no attempt to understand what actually was going on. He was told what the Chinese Communists wished him to believe. He was given a show; he accepted it. But his "expertise" was accepted in some very high places. There is a danger that we will make the same optimistic misjudgments today in our eagerness to end this most difficult war in Vietnam.

Since the United States is going to deal with Ho Chi Minh and his counselors, we had better know precisely what we are dealing with. We must not have any illusions.

What's a Gender, Mama?

When that commercial for a popular deodorant flashes on your television screen—it shows the entire family using one spray—don't you wonder why a woman doesn't object to using the same scent as a man?

I think this commercial is indicative of the "beigeing" and blurring of the sexes Dr. Charles E. Winick is talking about in his book, "The New People." Winick, an anthropologist and sociologist, says everything today definitely points toward "Desexualization of American Life," from blandly decorated homes to the clothes we wear.

Society will not turn back to earlier times with its more distinct role differences where father killed the bears and mother was the one at the spinning wheel. We have gone too far and then, who wants really to make a complete return?

Today we do not consider it unfeminine for mother to cut the grass or build a set of book cases. We do not snicker if father diapers the baby occasionally or turns out to be a better cook than mother. This, so far, is good. It is a sharing of the family work and, after all, there aren't many wild animals any more and the spinning wheel has been converted into a lamp or planter.

It is disconcerting, of course, to see two youngsters walking arm-in-arm down the sidewalk and not be sure which is the girl and which is the boy. The frightening thing is wondering if they CARE which is the girl and which is the boy.

Winick sums us up with: "People can't cope any more. They've lost their identity and don't know who they are."

Obviously, we cannot stave off the neutral life by forcing boys to cut their curls or by heaping ruffles on the girls. We are not going to solve sex problems by deporting homosexuals or by importing bears for men to shoot and skin or by having women bake more pies.

But, as the trite old saying goes, little things mean a lot. Does, for example, our daughter need to dress the same as her brother? Instead of a "poor boy" shirt, can't she wear a simple but pretty blouse?

And, the next time the sofa needs moving, why not let the boys do it?

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Contraceptive Pills Will Not Shrink Fibroids

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Many readers have inquired about the possible side effects from taking hormones for birth control. First and most important, they do not cause leukemia or any other form of cancer but the Food and Drug Administration advises against their use by any woman who has had a cancer. In some women who are taking the pill polyps form on the uterine cervix and these have been mistaken for cancer. In answer to another query, the pill will not cause uterine fibroids to shrink.

The commonest side effects are nausea, tenderness in the breasts and a gain in weight due to the retention of fluids in the body. Before starting to use contraceptive pills, a woman should have a complete physical examination with special reference to the breasts and pelvic organs, a Pap smear and liver function tests.

In a few women the pill appears to aggravate migraine attacks. In a very small number of women who are taking the pill abnormal clotting within the blood vessels occurs. Although no direct cause and effect relationship between the pill and the clotting has been established evidence that such a relationship exists appears to be growing. For this reason these pills should not be taken by any woman who has any type of vascular disease, including high blood pressure.

Both loss of scalp hair and an increased growth of hair on the face have been reported in women who are taking the pill but there is no proof that the pill was responsible and it is hard to see how it could produce two such opposite effects.

On the plus side, the pills are credited with relieving menopausal symptoms, preventing osteoporosis (decalcification of bones) and reducing susceptibility to staphylococcal infections. They may, however, increase the susceptibility to infection with Candida albicans (leukorrhea).

Meanwhile, the acceptability of intrauterine contraceptive devices is increasing thanks to greater care in observing aseptic techniques and improved methods for their insertion. When properly used they are highly effective.

Q — After discontinuing the use of the pill is there an increased chance of having twins?

A — No. An extract of pituitary glands has been used, not for birth control but to promote fertility. According to recent reports it works too well — twins, triplets and even quadruplets.

A Credit to Credit Men

Nothing works wonders like a little adverse publicity.

A number of stories awhile back charged the credit industry with becoming a mite too nose-y in the odd facts and tidbits it collects — and files — about people's private lives and habits in the course of credit investigation.

The matter was brought up at a recent meeting in Chicago of the Associated Credit Bureaus of America, Inc. The ACBoA, with headquarters in Houston, represents some 2,100 credit bureaus all over the country.

It was decided to set up an advisory committee which will make a thorough and continuing re-evaluation of consumer protection of privacy practices by local credit bureaus.

"The purpose of this entire project," said John L. Spafford, executive vice president of the ACBoA, "is to give the consumer the benefits of the use of credit in our economy and still protect his privacy. . . . We have recognized during these meetings that changes must be made."

It's a good goal, and a good start toward it.

LONG IN FORCE

The first 10 amendments to the U.S. Constitution, which are known as the "Bill of Rights," were proposed Sept. 25, 1789, and have been in force since Dec. 15, 1791.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

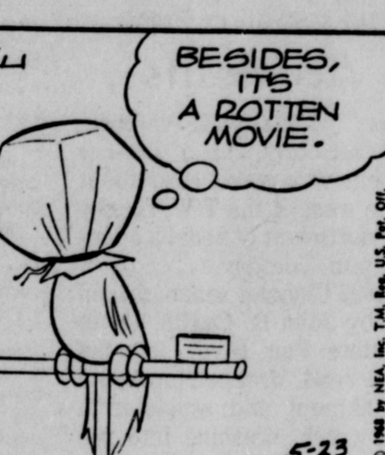

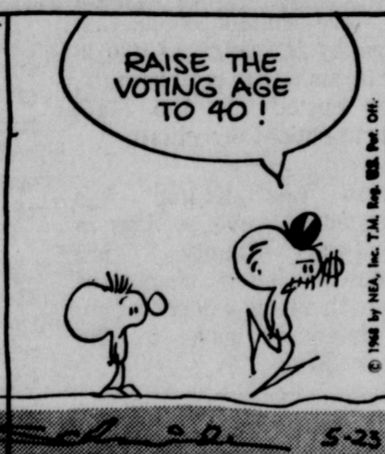

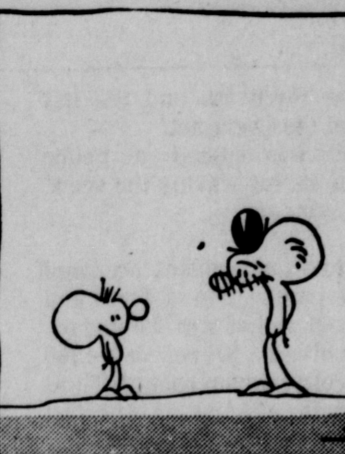

William Neville Jonson, son of Mrs. Laura E. Jonson, 631 East 15th street, has been commissioned a second lieutenant at the Officer Candidate Division Antiaircraft Artillery school, Camp Davis, N.C. He was on the advertising staff of the Sedalia Democrat before entering service, and also an officer in the state guard.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Miss Pearl Scott of the Martha Letts school, Sedalia, was awarded grand prize of $25 to the grammar school girl having the best essay on banking in the contest conducted by the Missouri Bankers' Association. David Curry, Longwood school, won the grand prize in the boys' group. Earlene Jenkins, Nelson grade school, won third prize in Group 4 for an essay on the same subject.

NINETY YEARS AGO

An extra edition of the Sedalia Democrat, up to 10 minutes after the drop, gave particulars of the hanging of John William Daniels in Warrensburg who had been convicted of murder. The trap was sprung in the presence of about 10,000 people, probably one-fourth of whom were ladies. During a steady shower of rain, the immense crowd, ladies and all, stood looking spellbound at the suspended body which was not lowered for 27 minutes because the lid of his coffin under the scaffold could not be removed until a screw driver was sent for.

Uses Tracing Wheel To Trim Wallpaper

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I find one of the hardest things about hanging wallpaper is trimming the paper at the baseboards and around the door and window facings. My mother solved this problem by using her tracing wheel. After making sure the paper is tight and smooth on the wall, she rolls her tracing wheel along the places where the boards and wall meet, and the excess paper comes off easily.—MRS. J. D. V.

DEAR POLLY—Mae wanted to restore a clean look to her badly scarred radio. I suggest that, if the wood is dark, she should pour some walnut stain on a cloth and rub until the marks disappear. Wear rubber gloves as the stain will not wash off the hands or anything else it gets on.—ETHEL

DEAR POLLY—I could not keep house without a bottle of scratch-remover furniture polish which works wonders.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—Mae could cover the badly scarred front on her radio with one of the adhesive-backed plastic papers that come in all colors and many patterns. Before removing the paper from the backing, cut it to fit the surface to be covered and it fits easily around the dials and knobs.

After some ice cubes have been removed from a tray, put a piece of aluminum foil in the bottom of the pan before returning it to the freezer. The cubes left in the tray do not stick.

When rolling out cookies or mixing bread dough, I always have a small paper bag close at hand just in case the phone or doorbell rings. When this happens, I can slip the messy hand into the sack and open the door or lift up the phone without getting it messed up, too.—MRS. A. K.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I make most of my own dresses and always have a problem with the sleeves. The few I buy are always smooth at the top, on the shoulder line, and those I make have gathers like the patterns always seem to have. Consequently any dress I make looks homemade. I would like to know how to remedy that.—MRS. H. T.

Top Level Meet Held In Paris

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle and his ministers, meeting today in an unusual holiday session, pondered ways out of the strangling nationwide work stoppages. But there was no announcement of any decisions in the session, which lasted nearly four hours.

Information Minister Georges Gorse, talking with newsmen after the Ascension Day Cabinet meeting in the Elysee Palace, put off questions by saying: "You can understand that, on the eve of the speech by Gen. de Gaulle, I can reply to no questions." De Gaulle is to address the reeling nation by radio and television Friday night.

Gorse also officially confirmed that Interior Minister Christian Fouchet had banned the return to France of one of the student leaders, Daniel Cohn-Bendit, who is now in Frankfurt. It was when word of this leaked out that about 5,000 students swarmed through the Latin Quarter Wednesday night. A new student demonstration was set for Friday night.

Sales of juvenile books in the United States increased from 54 million in 1947 to 270 million in 1957.

Circuit Court

An item in Circuit Court news in the Sedalia Democrat and Capital earlier this week reported that the State of Missouri dismissed charges of second degree burglary and stealing against George T. Murphy in connection with an incident at the Green Ridge American Legion building around March 1.

This was an incorrect version of the information which should have read that the State dismissed charges of second degree burglary and stealing against Marvin A. Fox and David Butterbaugh in connection with an incident at the American Legion building, in Green Ridge, Post No. 491 of which is named for George T. Murphy, war veteran.

Fox and Butterbaugh were charged in the original complaint with burglary in the second degree and stealing in connection with the Hickory Point Baptist church and the George T. Murphy American Legion building. Fox and Butterbaugh pleaded guilty to the charges related to the Hickory Point church incident and were sentenced on that charge by the court to two 2-year terms to run concurrently, under custody of the State Department of Corrections.

Ervin Lee Killion was sentenced to serve 90 days in the Pettis County jail Wednesday on a charge of forgery involving a check which the defendant gave to the Safeway Store.

Barbara Jean Brooks was granted a divorce from Larry Arnold Brooks Wednesday morning. Attorney for the plaintiff was William Brown.

Accidents

Four youths were injured, none seriously, in a one-car accident on a gravel road about a mile west of the T.W. Cloney farm northwest of Sedalia about 11:30 p.m. Tuesday.

A 1955 Chrysler sedan, driven west by John R. Guffin, 17, of 302 State Fair Blvd., left the gravel road, dropped down an embankment and straddled a small creek, crashing into the west bank of the creek. The car was demolished.

Guffin was thrown against the steering wheel and suffered a severe chest bruise. Steve Douglas Scott, 19, of 1401 South Prospect, suffered a severe laceration on the right kneecap and an injury to the right shoulder; Steve Alvin Hicks, 17, Route 2, Sedalia, received a laceration of the left eye lid; and John Ray Hicks, 19, of 119 South Stewart, received a bruised leg.

The boys were taken to the Bothwell Hospital in an ambulance from the Sedalia Ambulance Service, and were treated by Dr. D.K. Kirby.

Trooper Charles Pieper of the State Highway Patrol reported Guffin apparently was driving too fast for the gravel road and as he topped a hill lost control of the machine.

No injuries were reported in a one-vehicle accident in the 1900 block of West Broadway at 1:46 a.m. Wednesday.

According to the police, a 1961 Chevrolet pickup truck was damaged on the underside when it left the roadway after the driver apparently missed the turn. The driver of the truck was Robert E. Clark, 28, Route 4.

LONDON—(NEA)—An automatic candy-making machine is chugging out peppermints, an automatic haircutting machine is looking for someone to scalp, an automatic dishwashing machine is breaking crockery and an automatic rocking chair is waiting to soothe an angry Dick Van Dyke, busily arguing with Sally Ann Howes.

The argument started last August and is being finished this minute. There's nothing personal in it. It's just a scene from "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang," a musical fantasy due for Christmas release from United Artists and a film to which Dick has devoted one year of his life, with a brief time out to go back to the Hollywood to tape his recent special.

He'll be back in the States again, to stay awhile he hopes, when he is New York master of ceremonies for the Emmy Awards telecast, due for NBC-TV on May 19.

Right now, Dick is standing on his mark as director Ken Hughes looks through the camera view-finder at the man hiding behind the "automatic" candy-making machine, seeing that it works. "O.K., you're safe," Hughes says to the man.

"They keep saying if you're not in the film you're safe," Dick laughs. "You're safe," he says, pointing to someone outside camera range, "you're safe, and you're out."

Dick and Sally do the scene, but he doesn't hold a peppermint up high enough for the camera. They do the scene again. This time Hughes says, "Dick, you were a little off your mark." Dick says, "But I had my sweet up high."

By now it is well known that Van Dyke is one of the most talented and nicest men in the business. You have only to watch him work to realize the fun he has acting. Yet, because of delays caused by the weather and a torn ligament he suffered while doing a strenuous dance, he is not really too happy when not working for a very old-fashioned reason: He misses his family.

"I loved it here while they were with me," he says. "We DICK VAN DYKE, right, has a new look in his newest film, something called "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang," which, believe it or not, is about a car. Gert Frobe and Sally Ann Howes are also in the cast.

had a home in the country and the novelty of living in England was new. Now I feel I'll be climbing the walls without them."

He has a film soon due for release, "Never a Dull Moment," which he made for Walt Disney. When he finishes

"Chitty Chitty Bang Bang," he and Carl Reiner will have a reunion with "Baggy Pants." After that Dick would like to produce a property he owns
